South Viet troops lose more ground

Reds reject peace bid

SAIGON (AP) — President Tran Van Huong, thrust into office two days ago by the resignation of Nguyen Van Thieu, made a bid for negotiated peace today. The Communists scorned his offer as their forces completed their conquest of another province, and the government appeared to be abandoning one more.

Huong renewed a proposal made by Thieu half a dozen times for an immediate ceasefire. He also called for resumption of negotiations for formation of the coalition National Council for Reconciliation called for in the Paris peace agreement.

"The proposal fools no one and will hardly help the Americans out of their defeat," said the Viet Cong delegation in Saigon. It said Huong was "only a puppet and part of a game manipulated by the Americans to keep the Thieu clique without Thieu, continue a policy of neocolonialism, sabotage the Paris agreement and interfere with the right to self-determination of the South Vietnamese people."

The Communists made no proposals of their own.

The Saigon command admitted that the South Vietnamese army had withdrawn from Ham Tan, capital of Binh Tuy province on the coast 75 miles east of Saigon.

Heavy fighting also was reported south of Tay Ninh, and field reports indicated the government was preparing to write off that provincial capital 55 miles northwest of Saigon and pull back to a new defense line at Go Dau Ha, 35 miles from Saigon.

Binh Tuy was the 21st of South Vietnam's 44 provinces lost this year to the Communists. The government now is left with Saigon; Bien Hoa, Binh Duong and Tay Ninh to the north of the capital, and the Mekong Delta to the south. But in the delta fighting was raging in Long An province, and field reports said government positions had been overrun along Highway 4, the main highway through the region.

The U.S. airlift of Americans and South Vietnamese continued but was ordered switched from Clark Air Base in the Philippines to Guam, the U.S. island in the western Pacific. Officials said more than 6,000 evacuees crowding Clark would also be flown to the Anderson Air Force Base on Guam.

U.S. officials in Saigon said the number of Americans still in Saigon is down to about 1,500. Sources said the U.S. Embassy planned to cut down to a staff of 500 or less, but there was no estimate of how many Vietnamese remained to be moved out.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi approved emergency measures to admit up to 131,000 Indochina refugees to the United States. They are to include up to 75,000 Vietnamese dependents and relatives of Americans, 50,000 South Vietnamese who might be in danger in a Communist takeover, and about 6,000 Cambodians who fled before the Khmer Rouge takeover.

Coffee Break . .

A VOLUNTARY motor vehicle inspection will be held at the Fayette County Fairground from 8:45 a.m. to 12 noon and 12:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. Saturday, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Ptl. W. E. Brownlee, of the Wilmington post, said vehicles with valid inspection decals (punched June 1974 or later) need not appear. He urged motorists to check their vehicles for any defects before submitting them to the inspection.

Drivers should have their operator's licenses and registration ready at the time of inspection.

STUDENTS FROM Miami Trace elementary schools will present an all-county band festival Thursday at 8 p.m. in Miami Trace High School.

Students participating in the band festival will be from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in Olive, Wilson, Wayne, New Holland, Madison Mills, Bloomingburg, Jeffersonville and Eber schools. . . . Aaron Spaulding, Charles Lutz and Mrs. Sandy Staybrook are the band directors developing the festival under the theme, "Say it With Music. . ." The public is invited.

THE CANCER drive in New Holland will begin Saturday when volunteers will canvass the community. . . . The Teen Entertainers 4-H Club will be in charge of the solicitations.

If any residents are not contacted Saturday and would like to contribute, they may call Mrs. David Arledge, campaign chairman, at 495-5630, or mail their contribution to Mrs. Irene Easterday, Williamsport, who is the Pickaway County chairman.

ALL SENIOR citizens in Fayette County are invited to attend the dress rehearsal of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club's annual talent show without charge, according to club president Guy Foster.

The dress rehearsal will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the Washington C.H. Middle School auditorium. . . . The actual talent show will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Innocent family seeks justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was two years ago tonight that Donald Askew sat down to a family dinner, unaware that government agents were about to smash into his home, rummage through his belongings and hold his family at gunpoint in a mistaken search for drugs.

Innocent victims then and now, Askew and his wife and son may have felt a moment of triumph when the Justice Department brought the agents to trial on criminal charges.

But the agents were acquitted, and the Askews now find they must battle the same Justice Department in their civil suit seeking $4 million in damages from the agents. The department is now defending the agents it once prosecuted.

The Askews were only one of several families who fell victim to the raiding party of federal and local narcotics agents in Collinsville, Ill., and nearby towns on April 19, 20 and 23, 1973.

The Askew suit goes to trial June 2 in U.S. District Court in Alton, Ill., and may affect two other suits against some of the agents.

While the Askews had to find their own lawyer, the six federal agents had AUGH SHUCKS! — "Just when I've mastered my tri-cycle, they bring out something new!" T.J. Little seems to be saying, upon seeing John Pinnix of Chillicothe riding down Court Street on his 1881 "high-wheeler." Pinnix, who inherited the bike from his grandfather, brought it to Washington C.H. in order that it may be displayed in the front window of Craig's Department Store to help announce the upcoming ESA "Million Dollar Bike Ride," for St. Jude's Children's Hospital, slated for 3 p.m., May 4.

Preparations continue for May 4 bike event

By MARK THELLMANN

Everybody, but everybody is getting ready for the "Million Dollar Bike Ride," at 3 p.m. May 4!

Even John Pinnix of Chillicothe shined up his 1881 "high-wheeler" in preparation; however, John won't be able to start the ride this year, so he brought his bike to Washington C.H. Tuesday afternoon to give a short demonstration in front of Craig's Department Store on Court Street, where the bike will be displayed in the window.

The 94-year-old bicycle, which originally belonged to Pinnix's grandfather, was handed down to him because no one else in the family thought they could ride it.

Pinnix, who isn't much bigger than the 60-inch front wheel of the bike, is a natural.

He hops right upon it and rides like he had been practicing since 1881 himself!

The smaller, rear wheel measures 22 inches and the original tires consisted of hard rubber which was riveted to the wheel frame. That, of course, has long rotted away and Pinnix replaced it with what he called "hospital rubber," the same type used on wheel chairs.

The only drawback to riding the bike, according to Pinnix, is bumpy roads.

"If you hit a bump on that thing," Pinnix commented and continued, "there's only one place to go and that's over the front handlebars and down on the ground."

He has been riding the bike, now valued in the vicinity of $1,200 for five years. Pinnix and his family, consisting of two daughters, Becky, 12 and Debbie, 11 and a son, John, 3, plus his wife, also own two 10-speed bicycles, a unicycle (which he admits he hasn't mastered yet), a tandem bike and two replicas of the 1881 bicycle, which were made in England.

"My two girls used to ride the replicas with me on the big one. They measure 22 inches, making their big wheel the size of my small wheel, but they tell me now they're too big to ride them," Pinnix explained.

The event will be sponsored by the Alpha Theta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority and a goal of $5,000 has cites the Ohio Revised Code as stating, "The board of education shall make such rules and regulations as are necessary for the government and the government of its employees, pupils of its schools and all other persons entering upon school grounds or premises."

Smith stated in the defense brief that "The board must make rules and regulations that are reasonable and necessary for orderly conduct and administration of the school . . . for in the absence of such rules and regulations, there is chaos."

The defense contends that because the school's dress code and guidelines were first formulated by faculty and student council members, before being adopted by the board of education during a regular meeting, "the dress code is necessary for discipline and orderly administration of the school system."

It further states, "The dress code is reasonable in setting the limits on length (hair shall not touch the shoulders) and yet it is specific in that the students know the limits of the dress code."

The evaluation of compliance to the dress code is made by the high school principal, assistant principal and student advisors with the principal having the final decision in withholding pictures from yearbook publication.

The suit filed by Simpson claimed this is "discriminatory and unreasonable exercise of state power" by the ultimate decider of which students' pictures will or will not be published.

THE DEFENSE brief answered the question of discrimination by stating, "persons are allowed to be classified for the purpose of legislation based on reasonableness . . . the dress code in question classifies students into male and female. This is a natural

Malpractice insurance action urged on Ohio House solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unless the legislature acts decisively, there will be "a complete breakdown of the malpractice insurance market by mid-summer," Insurance Director Harry V. Jump has warned.

He referred Tuesday to four bills pending before a House committee, including one from his own department, that seek to keep medical malpractice coverage available to Ohio's physicians and hospitals to deal with the first of two problems over the short range.

"The second part is a long term program to deal with the underlying causes of the problem by restructuring both the medical and legal systems so that greater emphasis is placed on injury prevention and fairer, more efficient settlement of claims," he said.

Jump said cooperation from the insurance industry already has enabled the state to avert a "health care crisis." But he told the House Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions Committee that malpractice insurance "is a severe social problem, and the cost of the solution of this problem must be borne by society as a whole."

Chairman William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, said the lawmakers plan to give the matter intensive study. He sent the four measures to a subcommittee for that purpose, with Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron, appointed chairman.

Jump's testimony highlighted a full day of committee activity.

Both chambers exchanged handful of relatively routine measures.

Twenty bills were introduced in the two chambers, including a pair of Senate proposals to enlarge the 1,200-car parking garage beneath the Statehouse to a capacity of 1,700 vehicles, and to permit the state lottery to award merchandise as well as cash prizes.

Without dissent, the House approved and sent the Senate a bill outlawing piracy of records and tapes and fixing penalties. It okayed without significant opposition bills allowing municipalities to assess property owners for litter removal unless they do it themselves, and extending Ohio's instructional grants programs to include certain nursing homes.

In other business, the House scheduled a floor vote today on a bill to Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-49 Maumee, to repeal the state's law against liquor sales on election day. The Lucas County lawmaker said the law is antiquated, and that "the day has long since passed when a politician could buy a vote for a drink of whisky."

Mrs. Levy entered the hospital Monday and underwent eight hours of labor Tuesday prior to delivery.

Dr. James Sutherland, who is handling post-birth care, said the next 72 hours would be critical for the quint.

The mother reacted to the news "with disbelief," said Dr. Shade, 40, a native of Delaware, Ohio. "She could hardly believe it."

The father was equally astonished, he said.

"As we kept delivering the babies, the father kept getting more and more excited," Shade said.

He termed the delivery "a super-human team effort on the part of the hospital staff" and said the births were "extremely easy" from the doctors' standpoint.

He said Mrs. Levy was in good condition, but would remain under close observation for 12 hours. Photographs of the parents and quint were not permitted, at the father's request.

The first birth came at 4:14 p.m., a girl weighing four pounds, 13 ounces. Then in succession came a four-pound girl; a three-pound, 12-ounce boy; another boy at three pounds, three ounces and a girl at four pounds, two ounces.

It was Cincinnati's largest multiple birth.

Quints born at Cincinnati; doctors say outlook 'good'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 28-year-old Fairfield, Ohio, housewife, defying odds of 85 million-to-one, gave birth to quintuplets during a two minute span Tuesday, 11 months after taking fertility pills.

The three girls and two boys, an estimated four weeks premature, each weighed more than three pounds. Pediatricians at General Hospital said the prognosis for the five infants "is quite good."

The lightest male infant underwent a blood transfusion after developing a high hemoglobin count, according to doctors. His condition was guarded.

The children were the first for Mark and Pamela Levy. The father is an advertising aide for the Cincinnati-based Procter & Gamble Co.

"We weren't trying for a world speed record," said Dr. Allen Shade, who delivered the quintuplets by Caesarean-section at General Hospital.

"We knew there were at least three. We were amazed. They just kept coming," he said.

The new father, who is 28, shunned newsmen, telling hospital officials that he wanted to avoid massive publicity. The infants have not been named.

More than 50 quintuplet births have been recorded this century, according to the American Medical Association (AMA), but only six sets of quintuplets have survived.

Deaths, Funerals

GLENN H. FERNEAU — Services for Glenn H. Ferneau, 85, of 133½ N. Main St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home, Washington C. H., with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating. Mr. Ferneau, a retired auto mechanic, died Saturday.

The flag which draped the casket of the World War I Army veteran was folded by Henry Litz, commander of the Paul H. Hughey Post 25, American Legion, and David Morrow and was presented to Mrs. Bess Ewick, Mr. Ferneau's sister. Pallbearers for the burial in Good Hope Cemetery were Jess Robinette, Howard E. Miller, John E. Davis, Wayne Ewick and Hubert B. Ferneau.

MRS. BERTHA LEACH — Services for Mrs. Bertha Riley Leach, 80, formerly of Bookwalter, were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home, Jeffersonville, with the Rev. Wayne Knisley officiating.

Mrs. Leach, the widow of Wilbur Leach, who died in 1969, had lived in Bookwalter for some 20 years before moving to the Deaneview Nursing Home, Washington C.H., in January. Pallbearers for burial in Grove City Cemetery were Paul Allen, Paul Leach, Charles Mathews, Robert McKenzie, Rufus Newman, Labon Pierce, Richard Litzinger and Spencer Spurgeon.

Energy program hammered out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key congressional committee, after several months of hearings and debate, is starting to draft an energy conservation law that includes import quotas, higher gasoline taxes and a new tax on gas-guzzling cars.

At the same time, Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb indicated the Ford administration may again delay oil import tariff hikes if Congress shows signs of producing an acceptable energy bill within a reasonable time. After informally deciding to consider a tax on the price of gasoline-guzzling new cars starting with 1977 models, the House Ways and Means Committee began moving Tuesday into the formal decision-making stage of its efforts to produce a bill.

Open meeting bill gains

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, won subcommittee approval Tuesday of his bill requiring government agencies at all levels in Ohio to conduct their business in open meetings.

Freeman said he felt generally that the Senate judiciary subcommittee strengthened his so-called "sunshine" measure, but objected to one amendment that permits political caucuses of legislators to remain closed. "I knew if I didn't go along with it, I'd probably sink the bill. We don't have that much to discuss in closed meetings. But I guess we're all boys and think we have to keep something secret," he said.

Freeman's bill, which may be acted on the full judiciary committee later this week, includes a statement of legislative policy that, in effect, voids actions taken by public bodies in closed sessions.

It makes a number of exceptions which Freeman said were agreed upon during intensive negotiations in the subcommittee.

Mamie still in hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower has begun her fifth week of hospitalization for treatment of what is described by a hospital spokesman as "an intestinal obstruction."

Mrs. Eisenhower, 78, remains at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, where she has been since April 14. A spokesman there said Tuesday she probably would remain at the hospital through this week.

Mrs. Eisenhower was first hospitalized at the Ft. Gordon, Ga., Medical Center March 25 with what was reported to be intestinal bleeding.

The spokesman at Walter Reed said Mrs. Eisenhower was "still in good condition and comfortable."

Mainly About People

Mrs. Edith M. Browder of Bloomingburg, has been transferred from Memorial Hospital to Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus. She is in Room 213.

Rick Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Bennett, 531 Harrison St., has returned from a two-day, all-expense paid trip to Chicago. The 13-year-old Bennett, a carrier for the Cincinnati Post, won the trip for acquiring 16 new customers on his route. While on the trip, he toured the Indianapolis Speedway museum.

Solons study evacuation plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress nears decisions on whether U.S. troops can be used to help evacuate Americans from South Vietnam, officials say U.S. diplomatic efforts are aimed at saving the city of Saigon from the ravages of war.

If a cease-fire and a political settlement can be achieved before Hanoi's troops enter Saigon, U.S. officials say they are confident that many thousands of South Vietnamese can be evacuated. Up to 131,000 Indochina refugees will be permitted to enter the United States under emergency steps approved by Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

The total includes up to 75,000 Vietnamese who are close relatives of American citizens or permanent U.S. residents; up to 50,000 Vietnamese who would be endangered in a Communist takeover of South Vietnam; 1,000 Cambodian refugees now in Thailand; and 5,000 Cambodian diplomats and their dependents now in third countries.

In addition, there are another 3,000 Vietnamese who are relatives of American citizens and who already have filed their petitions for U.S. visas. They would be permitted to enter under existing procedures.

Officials in the Los Angeles area were making plans for the possible arrival of thousands of the refugees. Arrangements for food, shelter and interpreters were among the immediate topics getting attention from Los Angeles County officials.

Meanwhile, the Senate and House were expected to vote later today on separate bills authorizing U.S. troops to be used in the evacuation if necessary and for humanitarian aid to the Saigon government.

Action on the humanitarian aid-withdrawal bills was deferred Tuesday in both the House and Senate as members demanded one more day to see if the State Department succeeded in its objective of reducing to 1,500 the number of American citizens remaining in South Vietnam.

The 1,500 total was described as the minimum needed to carry out essential embassy functions and a number that could be evacuated in a one-day helicopter airlift if Saigon comes under direct North Vietnamese attack.

The Senate bill would authorize President Ford to use U.S. troops, if necessary, to evacuate Americans and their dependents and endangered South Vietnamese who could be protected with the same number of troops, in the same time and at the same places.

The bill also would authorize $100 million in humanitarian aid to be disbursed through the United Nations and voluntary relief agencies, plus a $100 million "contingency fund" for evacuation programs. This money could be used for military aid if needed to assist evacuation.

Ford administration officials were reported to favor the House bill as less restrictive and providing more humanitarian aid — $327 million.

The House bill would permit enough troops to bring out an estimated 10,000 to 75,000 Vietnamese relatives of American citizens and other endangered South Vietnamese who could be brought out with them.

Illinois prison riot leaves inmate dead

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — State officials are considering criminal prosecution of inmates involved in a six-hour takeover of a Joliet Correctional Center cellblock that left one prisoner dead and eight persons injured.

Inmates held 12 persons hostage at the outset of the rebellion. Prisoner Herbert Catlett was found in a cell with his throat slashed by another unidentified inmate, prison officials said after the disturbance was quelled Tuesday night.

State's Atty. Martin Rudman of Will County said some of the 200 prisoners who took part may face criminal charges, including violation of a state law which makes it a crime to take a hostage. Conviction carries a prison sentence of up to 20 years.

"We'll certainly prosecute it" if evidence shows criminal action,

Rudman said. "People should know there will be no free riots."

Rudman successfully prosecuted on Monday five men charged in connection with a 1973 takeover of nearby Stateville Penitentiary. Six men were acquitted in that trial, which Rudman said apparently had no connection with Tuesday's incident.

Illinois Corrections Director Allyn Sielaff said normal disciplinary actions will be taken against the prisoners, but corrections officials refused to elaborate.

The disturbance erupted Tuesday afternoon when 200 inmates took over the entire west cellblock of the prison and seized four civilian prison staff members and eight guards, all men.

Shortly thereafter, about 100 state troopers equipped with riot gear attacked with tear gas and took back seven of the eight tiers in the cellblock, officials said.

The inmate rebels freed two hostages, but 70 of the prisoners barricaded themselves in the eighth tier with 10 hostages.

The prisoners said they were objecting to the transfer of three inmates from the Joliet facility to Menard penitentiary in Southern Illinois. It was their only demand, but prison officials did not disclose precisely why the inmates objected to the transfers.

The rebels released their hostages and returned to their cells after Warden Fred Finkbeiner promised over a Joliet radio station that the transfers would not be made.

The Joliet prison, housing approximately 700 inmates, is 40 miles southwest of Chicago.

'Family' head faces charge of murder

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Norman "Snake" Brooks, whose "family" of two dozen women and children lived in caves they dug on a hillside, is scheduled to appear at a preliminary hearing today on murder charges.

Eighteen women in his "family," the Children of the Valley of Life, are being held as material witnesses under bail of $100,000 each.

Brooks is charged with the slaying of deputy sheriff Roy Dirks, 38, who was shot to death on April 12.

Dirks vanished after going alone to investigate a boating accident on the Blue River Reservoir 40 miles east of Eugene. Searchers found his body hidden under some tree boughs. He had been shot in the head.

Brooks' van was discovered nearby. Brooks, 31, was detained for questioning April 16 and was charged with murder the next day.

Authorities later picked up the 18 women and six children of Brooks' "family." The children have been placed in foster homes.

Brooks, born and raised in Austin, Tex., said he calls himself Snake "because you never know what a snake is going to do."

He said he and Jeanne Gilmore, owner of arts and crafts shops in the Los Angeles area, founded the communal group in 1968 to give young people a chance to stay out of trouble.

Brooks said the original group included two former Catholic nuns, a teacher and a doctor.

The family came to the Eugene area in 1972 and built a log cabin in the Lorane Valley southwest of Eugene. Eight months later they were evicted for health and safety reasons by county authorities.

The family moved to Eugene and opened three "Lighter Brown, Darker Brown" restaurants. In establishing the business they insisted on cash transactions, some of which involved thousands of dollars.

Where the money came from was never clear, but Brooks said some of it was invested by Maureen Daugherty, 24, daughter of a prominent area physician, who joined the family in Eugene.

The restaurants closed later that year, after Brooks said $2 million had been stolen from a floor safe in one of them.

In June 1974, the family was back in the Lorane area living in hand-dug caves along a logging road.

Symington to retire

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington's decision to step down after two decades in the Senate has sparked speculation of a wide-open race for his seat in 1976, possibly including the candidacy of his son, Rep. James W. Symington.

The Missouri Democrat, who was first elected to the Senate in 1952, announced his surprise decision Tuesday. He attributed it to the death of his wife, Evelyn, in 1972 and anxiety on the part of state party leaders as to his plans.

"This is a sad day for me. But it's a realistic day," he told a news conference. "During my previous campaigns, my wife was my political partner. When I lost her, frankly, it cooled down my ambitions."

Symington, 73, said he made the been set as their part in a national effort to give $1 million to the hospital, which is the largest childhood cancer research center in the world.

Bike riders (there is no age limit) planning to participate should begin securing sponsors. Information and sponsor blanks are available at all local schools and area banks.

A sponsor agrees to pay a bike rider a certain amount of money for every mile completed on the 20-mile route. This money then goes to St. Jude's.

Prizes will be awarded the rider completing the course the quickest and the riders earning the most pledge money. A traveling trophy, now held by Miami Trace High School, will also be awarded to the school with the most student participation.

All riders will also receive a bike bumper-sticker and a patch which can be sewn on clothing.

Rhodes backs natural gas development

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes was to meet today with Appalachian leaders in an effort to mount a regional drive to develop Appalachian natural gas resources.

The governor told a statehouse news conference Tuesday that he would appear before the Appalachian Regional Development Commission in Lexington, Ky.

At the news conference, Rhodes produced two federal energy experts who said Ohio and other states in the region sit atop a vast pool of gas which should be commercially developed.

Rhodes said Ohio will attempt to have gas flowing from shale deposits by the end of the year, with or without regional cooperation.

He said Ohio must act because federal energy programs will not produce energy sources in time to prevent a crippling blow to Ohio industry.

Two experts from the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration center in Morgantown, W. Va., said the Appalachian states rest on a 150,000 square mile region where shale deposits are believed to hold about 500 quadrillion cubic feet of natural gas.

decision about two weeks ago at a Jackson Day Dinner in Springfield, Mo., after noticing that many state Democrats were concerned with his plans. He had previously indicated he would seek another term.

Symington, one of the chief architects of the nation's postwar defense systems, is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Foreign Relations Committee, the Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

When Owens Lake bed, located near Death Valley National Monument, was full, the water contained so much borax and soda that neither fish nor mammal could live there.

Stock list stays lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered some of its early losses but remained lower today.

Brokers said the market stumbled over an upswing in interest rates but investors remained fairly optimistic after the market's recent gains.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down more than 6 points in early trading, stood at 810.86, off only 3.28 at noon. Declines continued to hold a broad lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was active throughout the morning.

The broad-based NYSE composite index was off .18 at 45.96 at noon and the American Stock Exchange market-value index showed a loss of .35 to 83.91 at noon.

"The big problem is the indication that interest rates may pop up again for a while," said William Nelson of Moody's Investors Service.

Many interest rates have risen lately and some long-term interest rates in the bond market are near their 1975 highs.

Marathon reports drop in earnings

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Marathon Oil Co. announced today its 1975 first quarter net income was 47 per cent below the comparable year-earlier period.

Marathon Chairman J.C. Donnell II attributed the drop to the worldwide economic slowdown, reduced foreign operations and federal tax and regulatory measures.

He said net income for the period was $16.2 million, or 54 cents a share, a drop from $30.6 million, or $1.02 a share, earned in the first quarter of 1974.

Antarctic said vacuum cleaner

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — The antarctic may be acting as a giant vacuum cleaner, sucking some forms of pollution from the atmosphere, two Washington State University researchers say.

"We think this may be a major scientific discovery," said Dr. R. A. Rasmussen, who with K. Jerry Allwine spent January at the Scott-Amundsen polar station operated by the National Science Foundation and U.S. Navy.

"The antarctic may be a balancing mechanism of nature, removing gaseous compounds from the air," Rasmussen said during an interview Tuesday.

Severe quake hits in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — An earthquake of severe intensity hit the Mexican Pacific coastal State of Oaxaca early today, the Tacibaya seismological station reported. There was no immediate word of damage or injuries.

The epicenter of the quake was placed 285 miles southeast of Mexico City. The quake was felt slightly in Mexico City and in the resort of Acapulco, which is the state next to Oaxaca.

Jobless claims show decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Initial claims for unemployment compensation from the state dropped for the fourth consecutive week, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said today.

New applications were made by 20,952 compared to 24,268 a week earlier and 10,595 a year earlier.

Claims for continuing unemployment compensation held steady, with an estimated 258,000 for the week ending April 19. In the previous year, weekly claims in April were 93,248, or slightly less than one-third of the current number.

The current rate of unemployment in Ohio is at 9.2 per cent of the civilian labor force, the bureau said.

Ohio to be linked in crime network

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio will be linked along with 11 other states with a 2,000-word-per-minute interstate criminal justice communications system, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration announced.

Bootleg tapes measure passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill setting criminal penalties for making or selling bootleg records or tapes cleared the House on Tuesday.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Troy Lee James, D-9 Cleveland, passed by an 87-0 vote. It now goes to the Senate. The bill would outlaw producing, advertising or selling the pirated recordings, with each transcription or sale being a separate offense. Violation would be a misdemeanor.

The President won

There is something a trifle ludicrous about the U.S. News & World Report survey in which 1,000 more or less distinguished persons were asked whom they regarded as the most influential American. This is so, at any rate, so far as the highest echelon was concerned. The point we make is that the President of the United States necessarily would win any such competition — if that is the word — hands down. The office gives its occupant unparalleled means of influencing the course of events. Every least utterance of the man in the White House is trumpeted by the news media, as is only fitting when one considers the practical impact of such utterance. Had it turned out that a majority of the 1,000 respondents considered someone other than the President America's most influential person, that would have been news!

THESE DAYS . . . By John Chamberlain

Age of professional busybody

The trend, in modern life, is toward turning the disposition of our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor over to the tribe of professional busybodies.

The busybody is hard to oppose. He always speaks for the general good, the general welfare, and so he kills the Corvair car, or the SST (supersonic transport), the use of cyclamates or detergents. He fastens a land use planning act on the state of Vermont (known locally as "Act 250"), and he encourages two candidates for the Democratic Presidential nomination, Sen. Henry Jackson and Rep. Morris Udall, to take up the cudgels for Federal land use legislation.

He forces a catalytic converter on Detroit motor manufacturers, and he is dead set against the spread of atomic energy plants.

If the professional busybody were really a knowledgeable fellow, we would do well to put up with him for the safety of our skins and the good of our souls. But it is becoming increasingly apparent that the busybody is, if not an ignoramus, at least a jumper-to-conclusions.

It turns out, after all, that the fish are not disappearing from Lake Erie, the detergents notwithstanding. Meanwhile the numerous existing military supersonic transports have not had an iota of effect on the ozone. After the motor industry has spent a fortune on the catalytic converter, it develops that the Environmental Protection boys have sanctioned something that gets one poison out of the air at the expense of releasing another that is even more noxious.

In Connecticut the politicians are worried about a discharge of a small amount of radioactivity from an atomic energy plant. It turns out that the discharge was, actually, less radioactive than an equivalent amount of olive oil. The moral: Don't eat salads.

Since our era of busybodism began with Ralph Nader's attack on the "Dangerous" Corvair car, it is instructive to learn about the existence of CORSA (the acronym for the Corvair Society of America). It seems that there is a group of Corvair fans who won't give up on the small, air-cooled, rear-engined car that Ed Cole of General Motors created back in the '50s as America's answer to the Volkswagen.

The society publishes a quarterly journal in which it refutes Ralph Nader page by page. Members keep repolishing and refurbishing and rebuilding their old models, lamenting at their periodic conventions that General Motors had to stop making the car because of the propaganda that has been spread against it.

The Corvair lovers don't deny that some of the early models of the car had bugs. Driven carelessly, it could be "oversteered." But CORSA members insist that, by 1965, the bugs had been worked out. The car, if continued in stock, would have been the answer to a conservationist's prayer in our present era of energy shortages. There is a company, Solar Automotive, that specializes in rebuilding Corvairs and supplying parts that are no longer to be had without pawing through thousands of junkyards.

Congressman Udall, undeterred by the fact that his 1973 land use bill was killed by those who resented its contemplation of the use of a Federal financial aid club to force it on the 50 states, is back in there pitching for a new bill. This time Udall would not take away highway, airport and conservation money from states that might not want to meet land use specifications laid down by the Department of the Interior. Nevertheless, there is still the hint of penalty: Udall would still hand tax money taken from all the states to those particular states that comply with Federal guidelines.

The Udall busybodism reckons without the experience of Vermonters with their own pioneering land use legislation. John McClaughry, a Vermont reformer and ex-legislator who now devotes most of his waking hours to his Institute for Liberty and Community, has, after watching Vermont's land use program in action, decided that the attempt to zone even a small state from its capital is a vast mistake, a swingback, indeed, to feudalism.

Land use planning, when it is divorced from the local community, means that the growth of taxable development can no longer be controlled by those who pay and benefit from the taxes. There can be a terrible destruction of property values in one place, and an elephantiasis of values in another. The invitation to political wheeling and dealing is obvious.

We need our busybodies. Their criticism can be constructive. If they can persuade us on an individual voluntaristic basis, fine and dandy. But Heaven save us from the laws they want to shove down our throats.

Urge state malpractice legislation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger says the states should take the lead in legislation to meet the current crisis in malpractice insurance.

Speaking to the Cleveland Academy of Medicine Tuesday, Weinberger said increased insurance rates, caused by fear of damage suits, have added two to five billion dollars to health care costs in this country.

In an interview prior to the speech, he said President Ford has "asked me to stay" in his cabinet and that he intends to do so.

Weinberger was appointed by former President Richard Nixon. He made the remark when asked about reports that he might be replaced by a Ford appointee.

Discussing the administration's program in his speech, he said Ford's national health insurance proposal, to be presented to Congress in 1976, will be based on a person's ability to pay for care and funded through private insurance companies.

"We do not agree with those who seek a nationalized program that would require an army of federal workers and huge tax increases," he said.

Rural residents view crime rate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Country folk still tend to view society with a far different perspective than their city neighbors, an Ohio Farm Bureau Federation crime study indicates.

Where else but in rural Ohio would 65 per cent of those polled believe it "would be very safe or somewhat safe for a woman to walk alone after dark in her own neighborhood?"

And, where else would 80 per cent consider it "somewhat unlikely or very unlikely a person might be attacked at night locally?"

Most rural Ohioans do not lock their cars, the study showed, although crimes against property increased dramatically over a 10-year period ending in 1973, with motor vehicle offenses leading the list.

Overall, the farm bureau discovered "there is not great concern for protection of personal property in rural Ohio."

"Simple precautionary measures to prevent or stifle burglary and theft are not being taken by the majority of rural residents," the study, "Crime in Rural Ohio" said.

The $120,000 survey and study, compiled by an Ohio State University agricultural researcher, concluded that "rural crime rates are higher than expected. They tend to be minor crimes. Rural people generally feel safe and secure at home."

Yet the survey uncovered some apparent inconsistencies in this rather relaxed attitude toward a mounting, if minor, crime rate:

—76 per cent of those interviewed over a six-month period beginning in June of last year "felt a gun, pistol, rifle or shotgun should be kept for protection."

—"Logic would suggest rural people would report most crimes, but practice suggests otherwise." Only auto offenses and burglary were reported more than 50 per cent of the time, the survey said, and all other violations were reported less than half of the time.

—While most members of farm bureau councils rated their law enforcement agencies adequate to excellent, almost 60 per cent said they would pay higher taxes for improved police protection.

The report found that the average country criminal probably looked a lot like the farm victim's children, although 60 per cent of the offenders live in urban areas with populations of at least 2,500.

How does one deal with such a person-short of telling him off?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Avoid him. He may be extremely well-educated and informed, but he is neither well-bred nor refined.

The person who comes into your company and hogs all the conversation is no less a hog than the person who comes to the table and eats all the food.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for two years and are ready to start our family. The problem is my wife's weight. She is 5 ft. 3 in. and weighs 160 pounds.

I have told her that unless she loses at least 20 pounds, I am not going to impregnate her!

With all the problems women have during and after pregnancy, I think I'm doing her a favor by insisting that she lose some weight before becoming pregnant.

My wife thinks that I am being unreasonable, but I am sincerely concerned about her health as well as the health of the baby.

Three months ago I laid down the law, "No diet-no baby." So far she hasn't lost an ounce, and she doesn't even try.

What do you think about this?

INDIANA

DEAR IND: While your attitude makes sense, your problem is far "heavier" than 20 pounds of blubber. Why is she punishing you? And why are you punishing her? Don't let baby make three before you are sure you have a reasonably stable marriage.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, April 23, the 113th day of 1975. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1564, William Shakespeare was born at Stratford-on-Avon in England. He died on the same date in 1616.

On this date—

In 1789, President-elect and Mrs. George Washington moved into the first presidential mansion, at the corner of Franklin and Cherry streets in New York City.

In 1791, the 15th American president, James Buchanan, was born in Franklin County, Penn.

In 1838, the first regular transatlantic steamship service was inaugurated as the "Sirius" and the "Great Western" arrived in New York from England.

In 1940, more than 200 persons died in a dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss.

In 1942, during World War II, King George II of Greece fled to the island of Crete. A German armored division had broken through the Thermopylae Pass.

In 1936, a white demonstrator for Negro civil rights, William Moore, was shot and killed on a road near Attalla, Ala.

Ten years ago: President Charles de Gaulle emphasized his opposition to U.S. Asian policies by withdrawing French units from naval maneuvers held by the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization.

Five years ago: South Vietnam said it was aiding the anti-Communist drive in Cambodia by supplying the Cambodians with rifles and ammunition captured in fighting in South Vietnam.

One year ago: It was disclosed that the Nixon Administration was preparing to provide Egypt a quarter of a billion dollars in economic aid.

Today's birthdays: Ambassador Shirley Temple Black is 47. Soviet writer Vladimir Nabokov is 76.

Five new members inducted into Colman Council 5386

The Knights of Columbus admission degree was administered to five candidates Sunday night when members of Colman Council No. 5386 assembled in regular session at the Rawlings Street clubrooms.

New members inducted were David Kearney, William L. Rodgers, John Huysman, Fred Doyle and William G. Rodgers. Installation was conducted by a degree team composed of William Stahl, grand knight; Eugene Gad, instructor; Eugene Langen, financial secretary, and Robert Garland, warden.

Recognition was accorded Gad for his outstanding promotional work as membership chairman and for this honor was presented the "VIP" award Stahl.

Honors for dedicated service to the Council were conferred upon Gad and Clarence Hackett who received the coveted Knight of the Month trophies for March and April.

Reports on attendance were given regarding the communion breakfast Sunday, April 13, and the family night spaghetti supper held Saturday, April 19. Both functions were held in the clubrooms.

Plans were outlined by Mike Pentzer and Larry Johnson for a K. of C. softball team this year. Members were also advised of a bake sale scheduled for Saturday, April 26 at Mac Dews Real Estate office. Those having donations are asked to leave them at the Larry Johnson residence on Ohio Avenue April 25.

An interesting and informative account of a recent panel discussion in Columbus on "Abortion" was presented by Robert Pero, pro-life chairman.

Robert Huysman and Robert Engle served on the refreshment committee during the social hour following.

Cancellation of meeting set for April 27 was announced by Stahl.

NEW YORK (AP) — While millions of unemployed workers seek jobs futilely, there is one worker who can usually find another job — the corporation president who was fired.

The probability is 6 in 10 that the fired president of one of the 500 largest corporations will become president of another company within one year, says Prof. Eugene E. Jennings.

In two years the likelihood rises to 80 per cent and within three years 90 per cent, Jennings found after analyzing the phenomenon as part of a continuing study of executive mobility that began in 1948.

"In America we believe everyone deserves a second chance," he observes, "but a fired president can almost always get three or four chances." He believes that some of the best presidents have been "fired."

The situation is far different from that which existed in the 1950s, when the expansionary dreams and rising profits of American enterprise permitted companies to boot executives into jobs with big titles and minor duties. Running a tight operation today forbids that practice. Instead, the executive is fired.

Moreover, Jennings believes, "We have too few people who visibly qualify for presidencies, and that is why the fired boss succeeds." This might not be so if industry had a bullpen of talent. But it hasn't, he states.

Studies by Jennings, who is a management professor at Michigan State University, personal consultant to many corporation chiefs, and a prolific author, shows that a fired president is much preferred for a top job over a talented vice president.

A vice president with one of the top 500 corporations has only one chance in 10 of becoming president of a company, his own or another, Jennings found.

The reasons? For one thing, the fired president benefits from a greater presence and prestige, simply because he has already been "the boss" and because of media attention given to the top man. "The VP is obscured by the status of a president," Jennings says. But there are other reasons too.

"The vast number of corporations are very conservative in the sense they would rather hire a fired president than an untested vice president. They think they're minimizing the risk," says Jennings, adding:

"The fired president learns a lot and doesn't make mistakes the untested vice president has yet to learn."

Moreover, corporations have cycles. Sometimes a president is fired merely because his talents are a mismatch for corporate needs. But this doesn't mean he won't be a good match with another company.

Findlay voters nix city charter

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Findlay voters rejected by nearly a 2-1 margin Tuesday an attempt to pass a city charter. The vote was 1,787 for and 3,271 against.

The proposal would have reduced the size of city council from 10 to nine members, with its president named from among council members instead of being an elective post.

The auditor and treasurer would have been combined into a single finance director and the city solicitor would have become law director. All of the positions, now elective, would have become appointive under the charter.

One phone is always too many rings away.

If you did, you'd have every call in two rings or less.

How about putting an end to the daily ringaround?

We can help. We can put extensions wherever calls can catch you. In any of several popular colors.

If you do the whole thing in one convenient step, you'll never have to run. And you'll save yourself some money.

That means ordering all your phones at once — like when you move.

To order your extensions, call the Ohio Bell Business Office, Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

If you have only one phone, you're getting a lot of exercise these days. By the 4th ring you're really moving. By the 6th ring, you run. And by the 8th ring, you're just hoping it's worth all the effort.

You know what? You're knocking yourself out for nothing. All because you don't have extension phones where you need them.

Man faces death penalty for murder

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — William Roland Roberts, 38, was ordered to a state mental hospital for examination prior to a hearing on the death penalty following his conviction Tuesday on six charges including murder, kidnapping and robbery.

Roberts, a former Covington, Ky., resident, admitted to a two-month crime spree last summer involving holdups in 10 states, complained he did not get a fair trial and vowed to "appeal all the way to the Supreme Court."

Judge Robert V. Wood delayed sentencing in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court pending the examination at Lima State Hospital. He explained that a three-judge panel, according to Ohio's new capital punishment law, would be convened after the tests.

A jury deliberated two hours and 50 minutes before finding him guilty of the Aug. 6, 1974, strangulation of William Henry Reed, 71, in a $700 robbery at the Reed home.

Roberts admitted, during testimony, that he kidnaped Reed and his wife, Norma, 43, from a fishing spot at Rising Sun, Ind., and forced them to return to their home.

However, Roberts insisted he did not kill Reed. He said the retired grocer must have strangled trying to free himself from his bonds. "He was alive when I left," said Roberts, who had been apprehended by federal authorities in Portland, Ore. and returned here.

Roberts also denied he kidnaped Mrs. Susan Patricia Ramey, 34, a housewife, from a church rectory in Billings, Mont. He insisted she came with him willingly and participated in at least two robberies, including the $1,000 robbery of a priest in Martinsburg, W.Va.

Body discovered

BELLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The body of Judy Stevenson, 18, of near Zanesville, who had been missing since March 6, was found Tuesday in bushes along a rural road in southeastern Logan County, authorities reported.

Cause of death was not known immediately.

Auxiliary orders flags

Eight members of the Burnett-Ducey VFW Auxiliary were present when the meeting was opened according to the Ritual by chaplain Mrs. Esther Hyer. Mrs. Clark Rumer conducted the meeting when reports were made of ill members.

It was announced that grave flags were ordered for Memorial Day services, and American flags for the Fayette Progressive School, Memorial Hospital and Court House Manor Nursing Home, with all to be presented at a later date.

"Loyalty Day" will be observed at 7 p.m. May 5 by the Auxiliary, when ROTC officer Harold Vail will be guest speaker.

New officers nominated Mrs. Ambers Conley, president; Mrs. Lela Campbell, senior vice president; Mrs. Walter Wilson, junior vice president; Mrs. James Puckett, treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Harley, three-year trustee; Mrs. Fannie Hooks, guard; Mrs. Hyer, chaplain; Mrs. Jess Whitmer, conductress; and Mrs. Clark Rumer, secretary. Others will be chosen at a later date.

Plans for a picnic at Cave Lake on July 13 were made, and the meeting was closed according to the Ritual. Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Rumer were in charge of refreshments, and Mrs. Hyer was winner of the door prize.

Mrs. Jess Whitmer and Mrs. Wilson will serve refreshments at the May 5 meeting.

Hickory Lane Church plans June banquet

The Ladies Fellowship of the Hickory Lane Church of Christ met at the church for their monthly meeting. Each lady present read Scripture with the word "rain" in it. The chapter of the month was Matthew 7.

Mrs. Hubert Lucas gave the devotion, and read a poem entitled "The Great Physician", and read Psalm 27.

Mrs. Fred Tracy, president, conducted the business meeting, when plans were made for the father and son banquet to be held at the church at 6 p.m. June 21. The ladies of the church will prepare and serve the meal.

Plans were also made for a Fellowship to be held Sunday evening following the revival meeting.

The next meeting will be held May 19th at the church. Hostesses will be Mrs. Eddie Foy and Miss Georganna Pierce. The word will be "Lord" and the chapter will be the Twenty-Third Psalm. Cherry cheese cake, nuts, and punch were served by Mrs. Keith Woolley and Mrs. Robert Johnson. Those present were Miss Debbie Evans, Miss Georganna Pierce, Miss Susan Bainter, Mrs. Hubert Lucas, Mrs. Willard Bainter, Mrs. Fred Tracy, Mrs. Charles Lutz Jr. and Jenny, Mrs. Clyde Runnels, Mrs. Margaret DeWeese, Mrs. George DeWeese, Mrs. Eddie Foy and Jennifer, Mrs. Larry Baker and Tim, Mrs. Marvin Horsley, Mrs. Tom VanDyne and Mrs. Frank Kinzer.

Heather Lindsey is three years-old

On Friday, Heather Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, of 12480 McCafferty Rd., celebrated her third birthday which was on April 20, with friends her age. Attending the party were Bret Schwartz, Christie and Tony LeBeau, Amy McGrew, Curtis Moody, Tammy and Tara Lynn Hammond, Jeffrey and Jonathan Lindsey, and Eric Jones. Another little friend, Aaron Stage, was invited but unable to attend. Their mothers were also present.

Warm spring temperatures made outdoor play possible, and Heather had fun opening packages along with the help from her friends. The children sang "Happy Birthday" and all helped blow out the three candles on a cake decorated with various zoo animals. Ice cream bars and punch were also served. The children wore party hats and blew whistles to celebrate. The party ended with the distribution of colorful windmills, books and candy. Heather and her mother thanked everyone for attending the party.

On the weekend, Heather's parents, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Porter and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lindsey celebrated, honoring her birthday. She also visited with her great-grandparents and other relatives and friends. Birthday dinners were given along with cake and ice cream.

Dill Circle

A group of singers from the musical, "Music Man" presented at Miami Trace High School the past weekend, presented the program when Dill Circle met at Grace United Methodist Church. The choir was directed by Mrs. Cinda Stinson. John Schlichter, Doug Joseph and Braud Maust sang solos.

During the meeting conducted, the annual rummage sale for April 25 and 26 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday was announced. Reports were made from various committees and Mrs. Lee Rowe gave devotion of "Steadfast Love of God," and a poem by Helen Steiner Rice.

Circle members will serve lunch for the Eshelman's Feed also on April 25 and 26.

Miss Marian Moore gave a report of "Church Day," and Mrs. Joe Payton will be hostess at 8 p.m. May 19.

Hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Merritt, Mrs. Robert Minshall and Mrs. Harold Ross.

By GLADYS KIRK

SELECT SEED WITH FREEZING IN MIND

As you plant that garden this spring, I hope you are checking varieties if you plan to freeze vegetables. Many people tell me that my family just doesn't like frozen green beans! When I help them check the source of the toughness many times it turns out that they did not pick a variety suitable for freezing. A free leaflet from our office, "Vegetable Varieties for Ohio Home Gardens" serves as an excellent guide.

When you stop by our office at 319 South Fayette Street be sure to check out other lawn, flower and garden bulletins available. While you're there, spend 15 minutes listening and learning about "Home Vegetable Gardening" on the slide-tape prepared by our Horticulture Extension Specialist.

GETTING READY FOR FREEZING

Just as variety selection is important for tasty frozen foods, other factors alter the fine flavor of home frozen foods. Proper storage is a key factor in keeping flavor at its peak. We need to use moisture vapor-proof materials such as aluminum foil, polyethylene bags, freezer film wrap and plastic and metal containers. Once properly wrapped, these vegetables need to be stored at 0 degrees F or below. Properly prepared vegetables will keep well for 10 months.

Before those peas, rhubarb and strawberries get ready for freezing, let's get that freezer ready for them. Freezers should be defrosted at least once a year and right now when garden contents are getting low is a good time.

To keep the remaining food frozen, put it in covered boxes and work as quickly as possible. My favorite method is to unplug the freezer and set pans of boiling water on towels in the bottom and close the lid. Then I use a clean rubber dust pan to gently scrap down the frost where it begins to come loose. I scoop up the icy sheets with the dust pan. I find this quicker and easier than letting the frost completely melt. But, one word of warning! Never use a sharp knife or instrument that could damage the freezer. This is why I use the rubber dust pan.

A baking soda and warm water solution is still recommended for wiping out the freezer. Rinse and dry thoroughly. When returning food to the freezer, wipe off each piece with a turkish towel, in case moisture has formed on the packages.

A FREEZER STORAGE PLAN

If you found lots of just certain vegetables left, maybe this means a change is in order. Ask yourself: Did I grow too much of this vegetable? How well does my family like it? Did I remember it when planning meals?

To help you provide your family a good variety of top quality frozen foods be sure to ask for the following free bulletins and charts:

U.S.D.A. Bulletin No. 10 "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables"; O.S.U. Bulletin No. 369 "Freezing and Using Vegetables, Fruits, and Prepared Foods"; O.S.U. Chart L-198 "Spotlight on Freezer Storage"; O.S.U. Chart 369 A "Record of Home Freezing".

As I returned last year's vegetables to the freezer, I put these in a special basket in the freezer. This way they are right on top and keep them in mind when planning meals. With the record I've started of what's going in new and what's coming out, I don't have to guess "What's left in the freezer?"

Grace Methodist Church chapel is setting for wedding

Miss Jeannie Creamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Creamer of 703 S. North St., became the bride of William E. Brown, son of Mrs. Anthony Guido of Galloway Saturday. The couple exchanged marriage vows in the chapel of Grace United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Mark Dove officiating at 2:30 p.m. for the double ring ceremony.

Large vases of purple gladioli and blue Fuji mums were in view, and Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, presented nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length ecru chalis gown trimmed on the bodice and bishop sleeves with matching ecru lace. Her handmade finger-tip veil was trimmed with ecru lace and fell from a simple lace and pearl Juliet cap. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, from the groom's grandmother's wedding gown, and diamond earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade of roses, mixed flowers and baby's breath.

Miss Mary Schray of Columbus was maid of honor. She wore a blue and violet floral print formal length gown featuring a square neckline and bishop sleeves, and light blue sheer portrait hat. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Thelma Woodring of Columbus, bridesmaid, was dressed identical to that of the maid of honor. Ellyn Callender of Washington C. H. was flower girl. Mrs. Woodring carried a light blue straw basket of blue daisies with blue and violet streamers, and the flower girl also carried the same with petals. She wore flowers in her hair.

Michael George of Columbus served as best man, and Robert Wright of Columbus seated the wedding guests. Chad Callender of Washington C. H. was ringbearer.

Mrs. Creamer chose for her daughter's wedding a light green full length gown with beige accessories and a green orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a light blue gown with navy accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Hostesses for the reception held at the Eagles Lodge were Mrs. Sandra Merriman of Milledgeville, Mrs. Karlene Ventresco of Westerville, Miss Shirley Sabo of Columbus. Mrs. Helen Massie of West Lancaster presided at the guest book.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at 894 Thomas Rd., Columbus. The new Mrs. Brown, a graduate of Washington High School, is employed by Capital Financial Services, and her husband, a West High School graduate, is attending Franklin University.

BPW Convention scheduled for May 16-18

MRS. PAULINE RIEL

Mrs. Pauline Riel of Morrow County, president of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will preside at the 55th annual state BPW convention May 16-18 in Columbus. All convention proceedings will be held at the Neil House.

In addition to annual reports, bylaws revisions and election of officers for the 1975-76 club year, displays from various BPW projects will be featured. Workshops and awards will emphasize the convention theme, "Ohio's Image Reflects Your Membership." During the three day event, the program for the coming year will be presented.

Golden Nike award winners will be presented following the opening ceremonies May 16.

The Ohio Young Career Woman will be selected May 17 from district YCW candidates to represent the state at the national BPW convention in Las Vegas, Nevada in July. Members earning the individual membership awards will be honored by Mrs. Riel at an invitational tea later that afternoon.

Mrs. Jeanne Squire, past president of the Ohio and National BPW Federation has been named national representative to the vent. Chairman coordinating arrangements for the convention is Mrs. Delores Chambers of Delaware, and Mrs. Ann Coates of Xenia is co-chairman.

Jenny Adams Circle meets

Fourteen members of the Jenny Adams Circle of First Baptist Church answered roll call by naming a missionary when they met at the home of Mrs. Howard Burnett Sr. A time of silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Nell Fogle.

Mrs. Jerry Coleman had charge of devotions and read an article from the book, "Man to Man" and poems, "Keep a Smile," "Everybody Needs Someone" and "My God is No Stranger."

It was decided to purchase children's clothing to take to the Women's Conference in June, and to make a contribution to United Church Women.

Mrs. John Case presented the program and read from "Social Principles of Jesus," by Walter Raschenbusch. Members participated in the discussion which followed.

Refreshments were served by Ms. Burnett, Mrs. Stella Baughn and Mrs. Robert West.

MISS PAULA FERGUSON

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ferguson of Wilmington, formerly of Washington C.H., announce the engagement of their daughter, Paula, to Billy B. Ross Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy B. Ross Sr., also of Wilmington.

Miss Ferguson, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Ferguson, 1106 Forest St., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Trimmer, is a 1974 graduate of Wilmington High School. She is completing her first-year at Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky., and will transfer to Southern State College at Wilmington.

Mr. Ross, a 1973 graduate of Wilmington High School, is employed at Ferneau Washington in Wilmington. No date has been set for the wedding.

BPW scholarship winners chosen

The personal development committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. Mark E. King with Mrs. Fred Shoop assisting.

During the business meeting, two senior girls were selected as recipients of the BPW scholarship after which refreshments were served to President Mrs. Harold Cruea, Mrs. Mary Cronce, Mrs. Howard Dellinger, Mrs. Loreah O'Brien, Mrs. Mildred Rogers and Miss Lena Smith.

The remainder of the evening was spent in visiting.

Genealogical Convention planned

Eighty-six new members of First Families of Ohio will converge in Columbus on Friday and Saturday, May 2nd and 3rd, to be inducted and be awarded their medals at the Annual Convention of The Ohio Genealogical Society.

The 86 new members represent 333 pioneer ancestors who settled in Ohio between the years 1783 and 1820. They join the 208 members previously installed, representing 29 states, including one member from Alaska.

William J. McIntosh of Clinton, OH will preside at the induction ceremony following an address by William R. Houston, M.D. of Mansfield who will speak to the subject "Genetics in Genealogy". Dr. Houston was the Founder and qualified as the first member of First Families. He is Past President of OGS and presently a Trustee of the State Society.

Workshops covering major areas of interest will precede the Friday evening banquet and the Saturday morning business session. President James D. Wolfe of N. Canton will preside.

Dr. Raymond Bell of Washington and Jefferson College will be the Saturday afternoon speaker. His subject "Genealogical Research in Western Pennsylvania." Dr. Bell is the author of several books and family genealogies. He is recognized throughout the U.S. as an authority on Pennsylvania families.

Three hundred of the 1700 members of OGS are expected to attend, representing 44 states and four foreign countries.

The Friday and Saturday meetings at Holiday Inn, Lane Ave., Columbus (opposite the OSU campus), are open to the public.

Dr. and Mrs. Hartien S. Ritter, 1495 Shanabrook Dr. Akron, OH 44313, are the Convention Chairpersons. They will handle reservations for both or either day.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kelley represented the Fayette County Historical Museum as Curator and assistant, when they attended the annual joint meetings of The Ohio Historical Society, The Ohio Association of Historical Societies, and The Ohio Covered Bridge Committee, Friday and Saturday, at the Ohio Historical Center. They attended the banquet on Friday evening, when honorary life memberships were presented. The main topic was "The Appalachian Green Parks Project." On Saturday, they heard the many reports of the Ohio Association of Historical Societies, concerning various heads and branches of the organization. Mr. Kelley told about his book, "Down Through the Golden Years."

County board renews employe contracts

BY MARK THELLMANN

Two of the most important matters discussed by Fayette County Board of Education members during their semi-monthly meeting Tuesday, were the renewal of contracts for school system employes during the upcoming school year and the changing of graduation ceremonies from Friday, June 6 to Saturday evening, June 7. Baccalaureate exercises slated for June 1 will remain the same.

Title I contracts were renewed for 12 teachers, 10 educational aides, four secretaries, three kindergarten aides (if needed), a clerk, a coordinator and a full-time secretary.

The board also renewed one-year contracts to 12 teachers, two-year contracts to 35 teachers, three-year contracts to 30 teachers, continuing contracts to two teachers and two temporary certificates pending certification.

Contracts for non-certified employes went to 11 bus drivers, eight cooks, three custodians and two secretaries.

Other matters approved during the board meeting at the county offices on E. Court Street were:

- the payment of bills for the county office and the local office;
- the monthly financial statement for the district and the monthly activity accounts;
- resignations and employments;
- matters concerning tuition students; and
- salary adjustments, attendance of professional meetings and several reports presented by board members and visitors attending the meeting.

Resignations were granted to Jack Horner, teacher at Madison Mills, effective June 10; Pat Gall, teacher at Miami Trace High School, effective June 10; Lynda Hensley, fifth and sixth grade teacher at Olive Elementary School, effective July 10; Catherine Miller, educational aide at Staunton Elementary School, effective April 4; and Dale Creamer, who has resigned his basketball coaching position at Miami Trace, but not his teaching assignments.

Board members employed Cathy Jones of Mount Sterling as an elementary school teacher for 1975-76 and Beverly Eyre of Leesburg, also as an elementary school teacher.

Dixie Keaton was employed as a janitor at Good Hope Elementary School, effective June 6.

Nancy Jo Cupp, Staunton, was hired in place of Catherine Miller as an educational aide at Staunton Elementary School.

The board approved the attendance of county schools on a tuition basis for Jill and Leanne Somers, and Christi Cornell.

A salary adjustment was made for Joyce Tudor, effective the next pay period, due to her continuing education toward a master's degree. She teaches first grade at Madison Mills Elementary School.

Board members approved attendance at professional meetings for Tom LeVan, educational workshop at Agnes Scott College July 20-26, $60; Bill Briggs, in-service workshop on automatic transmissions in Cincinnati June 4-7, $15 plus lodging; EMR (Emotionally Mentally Retarded) teachers to visit the Stark County classrooms on May 1 and superintendent Guy Foster to attend a law conference in June at Miami University.

Board members discussed a report issued by the Ohio Department of Education evaluating the high school guidance program. Members serving on the investigating committee consisted of administrators, teachers, parents and other area people. Their findings indicated:

- there are 400 students to every one counselor, meeting the state requirements;
- students assigned alphabetically to one counselor throughout grades 9-12 gain a closer working relationship with that counselor; and
- cooperation among persons involved with the guidance program is excellent and the administration of such program is quite good.

But, it was advised that:

- a full-time guidance secretary be hired;

- soundproof, private guidance offices be installed;
- the interruption of incoming calls be stopped during counseling;
- guidance orientation programs be started in the eighth grades, involving parents and their children in high school preparation;
- written policies and job descriptions be made for each counselor's position; and
- and small group counseling in specific areas pertaining to many students be offered, such as "good study habits" and other general topics.

Curtis Fleisher, Miami Trace principal, presented board members with an abbreviated report concerning the 1975-76 curricular offerings and projected class enrollments.

He stated that 1,074 students are registered to attend the high school next year.

Assistant Superintendent Steve Yambor was granted approval by board members to purchase a new boiler for Wayne Elementary School. The heating unit will cost nearly $6,000 total after installation.

Chairman of a committee on personal and professional leave policies, Jim Oughterson, presented his report to board members.

Elementary Coordinator, June Slaughter explained to board members what would take place this year concerning kindergarten registration and orientation. She has planned a shorter, more personal program which will take place May 12 at 1:30 p.m. for pupils attending New Holland, May 13 at 1:30 p.m. for Good Hope pupils, May 14 and 15 at 1:30 p.m. for pupils attending Madison Mills, May 19 and 20 at 2:15 p.m. for pupils attending Jasper and May 21 and 22 at 1:30 p.m. for pupils attending Staunton.

Mrs. Slaughter also announced a state grant of $1,000 to conduct a consumer education workshop, June 16-20 for K-4 teachers, who will study money, savings accounts, food, propaganda in the advertising medium, economics of farming, etc.

This knowledge will then be integrated into their teaching, exposing children in kindergarten through third grade to the basics of "supply and demand."

The board went on record as standing against the new construction of U.S. 35 where it would cut into Old Chillicothe and Milledgeville-Octa roads lengthening school bus routes in Fayette County. All members signed a petition opposing the proposed route, except for board member Ken Payton, who stated he didn't want to hinder progress and it was about time the "suicide strip" was made safe to travel on.

Credit specialist says

Cashless, checkless future possibility

A consumer credit specialist posed the possibility of a near cashless, checkless future for Americans during her address to members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club Tuesday in the Country Club.

"We'd never do away with cash or checks altogether, said Mrs. Patricia Woodland, of Perrysburg, who has been spreading the word since 1973 on the uses and abuses of credit in general and in particular for the 187 Master Charge banks in Ohio and bordering states.

"THEY SERVE their own purpose," Mrs. Woodland continued. "But we think in the future that people will go increasingly to the type of exchange that doesn't lend itself to being stolen or lost," said Mrs. Woodland, an employee of Banc Systems Association, which handles Master Charge distribution in the tri-state area.

Lowell M. (Pete) Hayes, Mr. Hayes, a prominent Washington C. H. businessman and civic leader, was a member of the Rotary Club for 33 years and served as president in 1946-1947. A eulogy was ready by C. W. (Bud) Mustine and the tribute ended with a prayer from the Rev. Mark Dove.

Tom Riley, of Miami Trace High School, was a student guest. Visiting Rotarians were Scott Kerns, of Wilmington, Art Dick, of Mount Sterling, Jerry Ardrey, of London, and Darrell French, of Wilmington. Guests were Hank Sobosainski with John Lachat, Bill Mathisen with Bill Williams, Jim Granstaff with Richard Whiteside, Ron Warner with Bruce Ream and Salvador Lozane with Robert Simpson.

Urge voucher system for utility bills

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for the state to enact a tax-supported discount voucher system to help needy Ohioans pay utility bills was made Tuesday by John P. Williamson, president of Toledo Edison Co.

The vouchers would be financed by a 4 per cent state excise tax that customers pay on utility bills, Williamson suggested. He estimated the tax, which at one time went toward a relief fund, provides the state with $200 million annually, including $6 million from Toledo Edison customers.

"We must go beyond what used to be considered our normal responsibility with our customers and help them with their problem," Williamson said at the utility's annual shareholders meeting.

Williamson compared his proposal to the federal food stamp program. Under his plan, needy persons would be able to buy vouchers at a discount and apply them to pay bills for natural gas, electricity and telephones. Fuel oil, gasoline and other forms of energy where the tax is not applied would be exempted.

He encouraged that the program be applied to welfare recipients, the unemployed and those with fixed incomes.

The tax was originally enacted during the depression years at .65 per cent and earmarked for a relief fund for the poor. The levy has since been increased and now goes directly to the general state operating fund, a fiscal officer in the state auditor's office said.

Shale oil recovery nearer

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Industry appears to be "on the threshold" of developing a practical system for recovering oil from shale, a Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) spokesman says as a fuel test opens.

Harry Pforzheimer, program director of the demonstration Paraho shale oil recovery project being conducted by Sohio and 16 other firms, said the yield from refining 10,000 barrels of shale-recovered oil was nearly 97 per cent in useful products, including coke and a gas.

The comments came Tuesday as Pforzheimer announced the start of the first full-scale, nationwide test of fuels derived from the shale oil. The fuels were being used in military and industrial vehicles to determine their energy yields.

The Paraho project, a 30-month, $7.5 million program under way in the Naval Oil Shale Reserves at Anvil Points near Rifle, Colo., recovers 95 per cent of the oil present in the shale, plus large amounts of useful gas, Pforzheimer said.

H. Tyler Marcy, Navy assistant secretary for research, said the armed forces and industry are "anxious to develop commercially feasible shale oil recovery processes...."

Marcy added that, "so far, Paraho reports high energy yields from their mined shale, from 84 to 92 per cent thermal efficiency."

Seven fuels were being tested by the Navy, Air Force, Army, Coast Guard, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Energy Research and Development Administration over an indeterminate period, a Sohio spokesman said.

The sample shipment refined by Gary Western Co. of Gilsonite, Colo., produced 6,020 barrels of military fuels, including jet, diesel and gasoline types, Sohio reported. Another 2,085 barrels of oil were converted into high-grade coke said likely to be useful for metallurgical processes.

About 500 barrels were converted into a gas from which large-scale refining could produce fertilizer and other chemical products, Sohio said. About 1,100 barrels of oil were used for purifying, heating and operating the plant.

Pforzheimer, who also is vice president of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) subsidiary Sohio Petroleum Co., said operation of the Paraho system so far "seems to indicate that industry is on the threshold of developing technical capability of a viable oil shale operation."

Fast sod growth developed by prof

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A former Ohio Wesleyan University professor has developed a method cutting the growing time for grass sod from two years to less than two months.

Dr. Henry F. Decker, now president of Buckeye Bluegrass Farms in Ostrander, spent five years developing and testing his new method for growing the grass sod.

It uses industrial waste or sewer sludge as a growth base and grows a full crop in six to eight weeks, Decker said.

Decker, 45, said the first step in his system is to plant the grass seed in the waste mixture which has been spread over an impenetrable surface such as polyethylene plastic sheeting to prevent the grass roots from growing deep into the soil and increase growth potential.

Decker said that the grass dries easily and adequate irrigation is essential during the first few weeks. The process still takes less water than the traditional sod method, he noted, because of the shortened growth period. When the sod has reached top growth, the plastic sheets are rolled up in four foot wide strips and shipped to buyers. This eliminates the process of sod cutting and the lighter weight results in a savings on shipping.

Decker said it's also simpler to lay his new sod. One person can unroll the packages and guide the rows of sod into place.

The botanist said his new sod will cost "slightly less" than popular sod which now sells at a minimum retail price of $2,500 per acre. Decker has a patent pending on his new method. Ohio State University graduate student Richard Sterrett, Delaware, has expanded and modified Decker's system to quick-grow other ground covers such as ivy, Euonymus sod or crown vetch sod, commonly used along freeways.

To grow these ground covers, Sterrett modified Decker's method by placing an erosion net between the plastic sheeting and the layer of soil.

3 cases aired in Muny Court

A Fayette County man forfeited $100 bond Tuesday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court on a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication.

Stanley E. Roberts, 31, Rt. 6, forfeited the bond for failure to appear before acting Judge Robert L. Simpson.

In other cases, two Hamilton men were fined. Gene L. Hunley, 42, was fined $300, sentenced to the mandatory three days in jail and received a 30-day suspension of his driver's license on a charge of driving while intoxicated and John A. Spire, 47, was fined $50 for disorderly conduct by intoxication.

Reds release names of 3 dead

GALLATIN, Tenn. (AP) — "It's tragic to lose your only son in a war, but when you spend more than two years worrying and praying, news that he actually is dead comes as a relief," says the father of Air Force Capt. Ronald Dwight Perry.

"Believe me, it's a relief to know the circumstances that surround it and we are grateful to Sen. Kennedy for taking his time to help us," Ronald D. Perry said Tuesday after learning his son was killed when shot down over North Vietnam in December 1972.

Radio Hanoi announced the deaths of three American pilots: Perry, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Jesse Taylor Jr. of Long Beach, Calif., and Maj. Crosley James Fitton of Universal City, Tex. In Washington, the Pentagon later said that Taylor was a Navy lieutenant commander, and that he and Fitton already had been listed as killed in action.

Perry, a B52 pilot, still was listed as missing in action.

The Vietnam News Agency said Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnamese

vice premier and foreign minister, had notified Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, chairman of the Senate refugee subcommittee, of their deaths. The announcement said the names were released out of humanitarian concern for the men's families.

Fitton's mother, Dorothy, reached at her home in Cape Coral, Fla., said, "Deep down in my heart, I still can't believe he's dead. I'm asking North Vietnam to release his body to be returned home to be buried, if he is my son. To be buried next to his father..."

In San Antonio, Tex., Fitton's widow, Mrs. Ramon Horinek, said North Vietnam's announcement was partially intended to offset the outspoken anti-Communist views of her present husband, a returned prisoner of war.

Lt. Col. Horinek and his wife married at Las Vegas, Nev., last January after the Pentagon officially listed Fitton as dead. Mrs. Horinek said she knew Fitton was dead then.

Perry's father said his son married Lakkana Sagnak of Thailand just seven months before his last flight on Dec. 21, 1972, and that efforts to locate her have been unsuccessful.

"I don't have any idea where she is," he said. "She's in this country, but we haven't been able to find her and neither has the Air Force."

Perry, an employee at the E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. chemical plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., said that while the finality of the message was a relief, it hurts deeply.

"If a person has never experienced this, it would be needless for me to try to explain it," he said. "He was our only son. I hope and pray there'll never be another American family that will have to go through this like we have. It's been over two years now that we've been on pins and needles."

"It's not like having someone in your family, a loved one, die and then burying them. There was always the dread that he was being tortured, that he was crippled. He was only 28 years old when he was shot down."

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — Leonard F. Chapman, commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, estimates there are at least eight to ten million aliens illegally in the U.S. right now. Of those, at least three million have jobs, some earning as much as $10,000 a year.

At the same time, there are nearly seven million Americans looking for work.

The rising number of illegal aliens, unfortunately, is not a new problem. For decades, hundreds of thousands of aliens each year have slipped across the 5,000-plus miles of almost unguarded U.S. borders to seek jobs. In years past, when our economy was booming, many of these could easily be absorbed in to the work force unnoticed.

Today, however, with millions of Americans out of work, the problem of illegal aliens has magnified.

Coupled with our own unemployment problems is the fact that illegal aliens no longer concentrate in the Southwest, working in the asparagus, lettuce and cotton fields. Now they head for the big cities and better-paying jobs.

Recently the Immigration and Naturalization Service arrested a group of 50 illegal aliens in Chicago, nearly all of whom were employed by a maintenance and cleaning firm.

The morning after the arrests, the maintenance firm was jammed with applicants for the 50 jobs held by the illegal aliens.

That incident points out the very real problem caused by illegal aliens today.

In New York City alone, the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates, there are more than a million illegal aliens. Chicago has another 500,000; Baltimore and similar sized cities, as many as 50,000 each.

And they are working. Chapman says that 90 per cent of the 18,300 illegal aliens arrested in New York City had jobs, some paying $200 a week or more.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service is currently finding itself drastically short handed. They have asked for an increase of 25 per cent in their force. The 25 per cent hike in agents would enable the Service to make about one million jobs available to native-born or naturalized Americans. And within a matter of a few months.

One third of these jobs would be in agriculture; the bulk would be in heavy or light industry and in service businesses.

There is legislation proposed to give the Immigration and Naturalization Service the manpower it needs to apprehend the working illegal alien. In addition, there is legislation under consideration to make it a crime for an employer to willfully — and persistently — employ illegal aliens. Conviction would mean both a fine and a jail sentence.

These are steps in the right direction. But we also need stiffer legislation to penalize those Americans who assist aliens in entering this country illegally.

In just one year, the Immigration and Naturalization Service caught 8,000 U.S. citizens actively engaged in smuggling illegal aliens into this country. From those 8,000, came 83,000 aliens — some through phony marriages, some through phony student visas.

Jobs are scarce, too scarce to allow illegal aliens to take those jobs which unemployed Americans could use.

In a nation where everyone works all day Monday, and all day Tuesday and perhaps part of Wednesday just to pay his state, federal and local taxes, those workers should know that these taxes, at least in part, are going to insure that aliens are not taking jobs from their unemployed compatriots.

But, equally as important, unless we start to crack down now, we will see an even bigger influx of illegal aliens in the future.

Most illegal aliens come from nations with quickly expanding populations but slowly expanding employment opportunities.

So unless we make it unproductive for them to cross the border illegally, we will be hit with a tidal wave of illegal aliens, not just a flood.

Botulism not found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration Tuesday cleared a lot of canned mushrooms for any trace of botulism.

Tests by the FDA in Cincinnati are continuing to see if there may be any other harmful bacteria present in the lot, the FDA said.

The testing began two weeks ago after an eight ounce can of Heritage House brand mushrooms was removed from a central Ohio supermarket shelf after it was found to be bulging.

Fisher Foods, Inc. of Cleveland, distributors of Heritage House, recalled the eight ounce cans with the code numbers LK 403 P1 from store shelves throughout the state. Consumers were cautioned not to eat them at the time.

The FDA said the mushrooms were also distributed under the brands Giant Pride, Richilieu and Quaker State in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the Los Angeles area in California.

Testimony heard from city police informant in burglary trial here

Police informant Paul Hurler, 629 E. Paint St., took the witness stand in Fayette County Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning to testify against Stanley Bellar of Columbus, who is charged with burglary in connection with crimes committed Sept. 13-14, 1974.

Bellar is the last of three men to stand trial for the burglaries of Associated Plumbers and Heaters, CCC Highway-W, and the Washington

Fight over Demo bills continues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another phase in the legislature's so-called six day war winds up today in common pleas court after conflicting testimony on the scope and importance of the lieutenant governor's duty to sign bills.

Republicans are seeking to invalidate six partisan bills that were rushed through the opening week of the General Assembly by majority Democrats and signed by former Gov. John J. Gilligan before he left office Jan. 13.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, testified Tuesday that the legislation was forwarded directly to Gilligan on Jan. 11 after a "consensus" in the majority decided "that the lieutenant governor (John W. Brown) was not going to sign."

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, won a restraining order last Jan. 22 against enactment of the proposed laws, including a controversial Congressional redistricting plan.

Judge Frederick T. Williams, presiding over the nonjury civil trial, is expected to rule on procedural matters today before adjourning to consider whether a permanent injunction should be issued against the bills.

Brown testified that he had "repeatedly asked" on Jan. 11 to see both the original bills and the working document, or engrossed bill, "for purposes of making a comparison."

"The main point I was to go to was to make sure nothing had been inadvertently put in or inadvertently left out," Brown said Tuesday, the second day of testimony in the trial.

Ocasek and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, named as defendants in the complaint, asserted that a presiding legislative officer had a much narrower range of responsibility.

Before signing legislation as speaker of the House, Riffe said he checked only to see "that the constitutional majority was present and that the bill received a constitutional majority and . . . was read on three separate days."

Ocasek agreed with that interpretation in testimony regarding Senate procedures and Gilligan expressed a similar viewpoint in a written deposition.

The Ohio Constitution provides that the presiding officer of the Senate should sign all legislation passed by the General Assembly to certify that constitutional requirements have been met.

In a curious exchange near the close of testimony, Judge Williams asked Ocasek, if he would sign a bill that was blank after the customary opening words, "amended as follows."

After some initial confusion over the question, Ocasek replied, "if it said to amend the section and there was nothing there, then of course, I would not sign it . . . I think you certify that there is a bill passed."

Meskill gets nod for judgeship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's nomination to be a judge on the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has won Senate approval by a 54-36 vote.

The vote Tuesday climaxed a long fight against his appointment by the American Bar Association and others who contended he was not qualified by legal experience and background.

Supporters rejected this argument, citing his public career as mayor of New Britain, Conn., his four years as a member of the House and its Judiciary Committee, and his two terms as governor.

C.H. Elks lodge, 222 N. Main St., last September. The other two men were convicted earlier and are presently serving sentences.

Hurler, himself a convicted felon, was the key witness for the prosecution in each of the former trials, and Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann brought him to the stand to begin the second day of the trial.

Jury selection began Tuesday morning, and a jury of seven women and five men was seated at 12:50 p.m. Tuesday. Washington C.H. Police Sgt. Luther Anderson then testified that he had contacted Hurler late in the summer and asked him to supply information concerning area burglaries.

Hurler was a prime target for information. He had twice been convicted of burglary and also had arrests for car theft and robbery. He was on parole at the time and had recently been arrested by Anderson for driving while intoxicated. Since he was a bus driver in the Miami Trace School District at the time, the DWI charge was especially significant, and Anderson offered to try to have the charge reduced to reckless operation in exchange for information. A conviction for DWI would have cost Hurler his job.

Anderson testified that Hurler had called him the night of Sept. 13 and said that plans were in progress for burglaries at Associated Plumbers and Heaters and the Elks lodge. According to Anderson, Hurler said the first burglary would take place later that evening and the Elks would be "hit" shortly after it closed early the next morning. Anderson and other police officers arranged a stake out of the Elks lodge where Bellar and the other three men (including Hurler) were seen.

Anderson also testified that he met with Hurler later that night and his informant explained that the plumbing office had been burglarized, and plans to hit the Elks had been finalized.

According to the testimony of officers, Bellar was sighted in the area of the Elks lodge, but was not arrested when officers closed in. No explanation was given as to why Bellar was not arrested at the time. The defendant was later indicted and arrested.

When Hurler took the stand Wednesday, he gave his account of the events for the jurors. He said Bellar had not entered either of the buildings burglarized, but had served as a "lookout" for each operation. Hurler said Bellar was stationed outside the buildings with a walkie-talkie while he and Paul R. Spence, 36, Columbus, entered.

Hurler testified that Bellar accompanied the group throughout the entire sequence of events, "casing" the buildings, planning the burglaries, taking his share of the loot from the Associated Plumbers and Heaters safe, and serving as a lookout during both operations.

The defendant is represented by John Connors, a Columbus attorney, who will cross-examine Hurler at the conclusion of his testimony.

It seems likely that the presentations of evidence will be concluded Wednesday afternoon, and the jury may begin deliberations today.

Bellar was indicted by a Fayette County grand jury Oct. 25. James R. Forsythe, 33, of 703 E. Paint St., and Spence were convicted in connection with the burglaries in February.

Seated on the jury are Ludene Haines, Clifford Upthegrove, Betty Frazier, Martha Turner, Milla Schlichter, Mary A. Hinchman, Hubert Markley, Barbara Grooms, Stanley Kearns, Martha Fleming, Thomas Haynie, and Harold Wycoff. Ruth Knapp is the alternate juror.

4-H lamb, pig selection clinic draws 140 persons

Over 140 4-H'ers, parents and 4-H club advisors joined in the action at the 4-H lamb and pig selection clinic held Tuesday night at the Fayette County Fairground.

Younger 4-H members were instructed in the basics of selecting project animals. Topics included type and conformation, setting goals, health, feeding equipment and price.

Rob Frost taught the 4-H'ers in the market lamb selection while David Owens and Jim Hobbs handled the pig division. Both groups were assisted by Jack Sommers; county 4-H extension agent.

Older 4-H'ers sharpened selection skills by judging three classes of feeder livestock, including two groups of pigs and one of lambs. Owens and Frost led the discussion of the classes and gave the official placing. John Ervin, Bret Taylor, Jim McCoy and Betsy Hartman assisted in moving the livestock and handling the judging event.

Livestock was provided by Hoppes Happy Hogs and Betsy and Leo Hartman.

Chillicothe man freed of charge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Patrick West, Tuesday dismissed a robbery charge against James Robert Hunt, 23, to permit the defendant's return to Ross County to face an aggravated murder charge.
Hunt is accused of murdering Ruth Arledge, 56, of near Kingston on March 10, 1973.

However, a Ross County judge found that Hunt, a deaf mute, could not read sign language well enough to stand trial and sent him to the Columbus State Hospital to improve his communications skills.

First women's bank sets operation

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — After three years of trying to raise capital and meet state requirements, the First Women's Bank says it will be certified soon and will begin full operation in the fall.

The bank bills itself as the first commercial bank to be non-discriminatory in its hiring, promotion and credit policies and first to place special emphasis on meeting the financial needs of women.

"Some people thought we'd never get off the ground. But the bank has generated so much enthusiasm people are already sending in deposits. It was definitely an idea whose time has come," said Madeline McWhinney, the bank's president.

Bank officers say it will be a full service bank that will make special efforts to create banking career opportunities for women. They also say they plan to advance credit and loans to women who are having trouble getting financial help from the larger established banks.

Although Congress has passed the Equal Credit Opportunity Act which bans sex discrimination in credit, Miss McWhinney says that many banks don't want to bother with women as customers and consider them poor risks.

"It's an attitude that takes a long time to change," said Miss McWhinney. "Most banks have failed to catch up with the fact that women are good customers, that they have the jobs and the money to invest. Opening our bank is a positive step in letting women know that their needs will be met."

Other women's banks are in the works in Greenwich, Conn.; Washington, D.C.; Minneapolis; Seattle; Los Angeles; San Diego; Portland, Ore.; and Portland, Maine.

The First Women's Bank will be open to men and women. There are five men on the board of directors along with feminist Betty Friedan, designer Pauline Trigere and Advertising executive Jane Trahey.

Miss McWhinney says that an important part of the bank's business will be counselling and reference. She says she hopes to have a library of financial and consumer information and eventually hold seminars on money management and investment.

Miss McWhinney, who is married but prefers to use her maiden name for business, came to the Women's Bank after 30 years with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York where she was its highest ranking female officer.

She said that the new bank has 7,000 shareholders who have bought stock at $15 a share to help raise the $3 million necessary for capitalization. The first effort to raise $4 million failed because of the difficult economic times, not from lack of enthusiasm, she said.

The bank's temporary, cardboard box cluttered offices are on East 57th Street in a windowless basement. The bank plans to move into permanent, above-ground offices eventually.

Small businesses frustrated

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Optimism about future job prospects has risen among independent and small business enterprises, according to a survey conducted for the National Federation of Independent Business.

The San Mateo, Calif., organization, which claims a membership of 410,000 businesses ranging from small shopkeepers to operators of concerns with multimillion-dollar sales, said the turnaround was noted in a January survey.

"No panic is registered" by members regarding economic conditions, said Niel Heard, a spokesman for the organization, founded in 1943. "They appear to be concerned, but not alarmed."

Said Heard: "A lot of writers have phoned me with their mind already made up that small businesses are biting the dust in wholesale lots. Frankly, I can't find any evidence of this."

In addition to brighter employment prospects, he said that for the first time in 18 months the federation's members are more optimistic about obtaining financing, and that a growing percentage expect improved business during the next six months.

The data from which the federation draws its conclusions comes from surveys conducted by Faculty Associates, an independent research firm whose members include University of California and Stanford University personnel.

Heard said surveys reveal 20 per cent or more of smaller firms are actively looking for new workers but that most of the openings they seek to fill require skills.

Asked to explain how small, privately held businesses could weather the economic storm, Heard said one factor has been the "collapse" of some big corporate discount chains and other outlets.

"People, whether drawing wages or unemployment checks, still buy the necessities of life, and this business is now going to independents who have been able to stay open while their corporate competitors collapsed due to high overhead and often frantic financing plans," he said.

Hundreds of volunteer comments to the federation give perhaps a fuller picture than the statistics, said Heard. "Many do not believe there is really a serious recession as yet," he said.

"Some suspect government economic reports are highly colored for some future political move, and many feel newspaper headlines are building up an economic decline beyond its true proportions."

About 70 per cent of the business respondents to federation surveys are situated in nonmetropolitan areas, he said.

"As far as the decline in Detroit and in some other big industries is concerned, the feeling appears to be that big business and big labor, through constantly increasing demands, have created their own situation," he said.

Having priced themselves out of part of the market, he said, "both management and labor will have to reduce their sights."

Chrysler planning 2 new small cars

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. is beginning development of two new autos to bolster its small-car lines, including a subcompact with front-wheel drive for introduction in 1979, a company source says.

Both the subcompact and "a shrunken compact for 1978" would be smaller than any other U.S.-built cars Chrysler has offered, The Associated Press has learned.

The moves come at a time when Ford Motor Co. and General Motors are committed to bringing out smaller, lighter and more fuel-efficient cars than those now offered.

The new Chrysler cars are not yet named and their projected cost is not known. The compact is scheduled to come off the drawing board and go into the preprototype stage in July, the source said. The subcompact is likely to remain in the designing stage for another year.

At both stages there is little cost involved but if Chrysler cannot sustain future capital investment requirements, the programs could be cancelled.

A Chrysler spokesman Sunday declined comment on the new models. However, Chrysler President John J. Riccardo revealed last week that the firm had plans to build a domestic subcompact in the near future.

Chrysler is the only American auto company without a U.S.-built subcompact. It currently imports a subcompact from Japan for Dodge; next year another subcompact imported from Japan will be added, this time for Plymouth.

The source, a Chrysler engineer who asked not to be identified, said the 1978-model compact will have a wheelbase of 100 inches, about five inches longer than other American subcompacts and eight inches shorter than Chrysler's current Valiant and Dart compacts.

The so-called "K-body" compact car will be marketed as an economy model and will come in just one version, a twodoor hatchback.

It will be the same width as current Chrysler compacts, about 200 pounds lighter than the regular compacts planned for 1978 and will be powered by Chrysler's current six-cylinder, 225-cubic-inch engine.

The source said it would be about the size of Volkswagen's new Rabbit and the new "TBody world car" General Motors is introducing this fall.

The subcompact, a hatchback model, will have front wheel drive and be powered by the French four-cylinder engine.

Willis backed for OYC post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After only brief questioning, the Senate Education and Welfare Committee recommended Tuesday night the confirmation of William L. Willis as director of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Willis, 53, a one-time offensive guard for the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, went on to establish himself as a veteran administrator and counsellor in Ohio's youth program.

He served as deputy director during GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' two previous terms from 1963-1971, and held the same job under former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Rhodes named the Ohio State University graduate to the director's post last January.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Albertson, the crusty old man of NBC's "Chico and the Man," has come a long way since breaking into show biz in the 1930s as a vaudeville hooper earning $4 a day, minus agent's commission.

Among other things, he's earned Broadway's Tony award for his acting in "The Subject Was Roses in the middle 60s and Hollywood's Oscar award for his work in the film version of that play.

And now the sad-faced native of Malden, Mass., is up for two of TV's Emmy awards — one for "Chico and the Man" and the other for his guest appearance March 2 on Cher Bono's CBS variety show.

But he's more than paid his dues, both as an apprentice and as a journeyman, in learning the craft of the performer.

It'd be understandable if this veteran of more than 40 years in show business resented the lightning-quick success of his "Chico and the Man" co-star, Freddie Prinze, age 20.

But Albertson says he's neither resentful nor envious of the kid.

"No sir," he insisted, anticipating the question. "Freddie's really become a major star. He's a very attractive young man, has a lot of charisma and is a brilliant performer, especially as a standup comedian.

"He has a lot to learn in other areas as an actor, and needs a lot of work. But he can do it."

Albertson, who is in his 60s but declines to give his exact age on grounds such talk makes studios and networks uptight, was asked if he'd counseled Prinze on the pitfalls of making it fast in Hollywood.

"Oh, yes," the veteran actor grinned. "I've told him, 'Don't forget you meet the same people on the way down you met on the way up.' That's number one.

"And I've also explained the problems of discipline in the business. We had some minor problems with Freddie in the beginning because — he was all of 19 then — he didn't understand what the word 'trouper' meant. We had to occasionally pull him back in line."

Albertson declined to spell out the minor problems, but emphasized they weren't those of a newly bloated ego or temperament which often afflict a rookie show business star.

"No, it's not that kind of thing at all," he said. "Because basically, he's a very nice kid and a generous human being."

Viewers who like playing guitar or listening to it definitely should catch ABC's "AM America show Thursday morning. Two guitar greats — Les Paul and Bucky Pizzarelli — are scheduled guests.

Silver Bridge trial arguments heard

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Claimants attorney Harry Sherman called the Silver Bridge a "public nuisance" Tuesday and said the state of West Virginia should be held liable for its 1967 collapse which killed 46 persons.

The Pittsburgh lawyer said a section of state code says Ohio River bridges not complying with the federal Bridge Act of 1906 will be considered "public nuisances." Sherman also asserted that the state was negligent in its maintenance and inspection of the span.

Sherman comments came in closing arguments which ended almost a year of testimony in two damage claims against the state. Those claims, by agreement of both sides, will decide the state's liability in all 56 death, injury and property damage claims totaling nearly $6.4 million which have been filed against the state.

A June 2 deadline was set by the three-judge Court of Claims for receipt of final briefs in the case. A final decision will be announced at a later date.

The Silver Bridge was suspended by strings of eye-bars — straight bars pinned together at the ends through holes or 'eyes' — instead of by cables. The privately built bridge, later acquired by the state, fell into the Ohio River at Point Pleasant on Dec. 15, 1967 when the eye at one end of one of the bars fractured and broke the chain.

Sherman said because of inadequate inspections and state unwillingness to increase the bridge's margin of safety, it "kept its macabre secret, shared by the engineers of the highway department, until the uninformed and unassuming victims paid with their lives."

Atty. Gen. Chauncey Browning Jr., defending the state, said the state had done everything reasonable to ensure the bridge's safety. The eye-bar failed due to stress corrosion between the bar and its pin, a condition not known to affect the type steel used in the bars. Bridge inspectors could not be expected to know to look for it, he said.

Testimony showed the cracks couldn't have been seen even if inspectors had pulled the caps from the pins to look for evidence of corrosion. The state "could not have been expected to foresee the cause of the disaster," he added.

Another claimants' attorney, Charleston lawyer Chester Lovett, said he hadn't "heard any witnesses who have opposed our case" and that the claimants have proved state negligence. And he said the state should have paid claims voluntarily. "When something is shocking to the conscience, there has got to be a legal remedy."

Cloudy skies were expected today to replace the sunshine which Ohioans enjoyed Tuesday as a low pressure area developed over Iowa.

Brisk, southerly winds ahead of the low were forecast to bring more moisture, so that showers were expected later today and tonight.

Readings this afternoon were expected to reach the upper 60s or 70s before the showers arrived.

The Iowa low was moving northeastward into Canada, but another low was forecast to develop Thursday in the Mississippi Valley, bringing a chance of showers again in Ohio.

Under partly cloudy skies Tuesday night, temperatures were in the mild 50s and 40s, with the lowest being 41 degrees at Youngstown just before daybreak.

Fair Friday and Saturday. A chance of showers and a little warmer Sunday. Highs Friday in the low 60s and Sunday 65 to 70. Lows early Friday in the low 50s and early Sunday in the low 40s.

Umbrellas popular

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority had what it thought was a good rainy-day idea for area commuters.

The SEPTA public relations office decided it would be nice to provide umbrellas for its customers to borrow on rainy days. So umbrella-filled drums were left at the Reading Terminal and the 30th Street Station.

SEPTA reasoned that the project would not only be a courtesy to its riders, but also would clear out some 200 unclaimed umbrellas in its lost and found department.

Traffic Court

Two persons were fined Tuesday while all others forfeited bonds on traffic charges before acting Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson.

Fined:

Samuel J. Self, 22, of 231 Chestnut St., $50, reckless operation; and George D. Jenkins, 20, Dayton, $50, reckless operation.

Bond forfeitures:

Ernest K. Reinsmith, 18, of 710 E. Paint St., $60, no operator's license; Harry W. Valentine, 37, Columbus, $25, improper parking; James G. Hildreth, 27, of 1130 Nelson Place, $25, speeding; Melvin C. McGraw, 33, Hillsboro, $25, left of center; Mary E. Roper, 25, Dayton, $25, failure to obey traffic device; Gary L. Bays, 19, of 3557 Culpepper Trace, $25, failure to drive on right side of roadway; and Charles F. Brown, 62, Alexandria, $15, one-way street.

McElroy special consultant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John M. McElroy, former chief aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, was named by the governor Tuesday as a special consultant on intergovernmental fiscal relations.

McElroy was named for three months at the $3,000-per-month post to assist in the operation of the state Clearing House, which coordinates the needs of state and local government with available federal grant programs.

Rhodes said McElroy has "an intimate knowledge of the workings of government, and I feel he is ideally suited to help in this important area."

"Ohioans are being shortchanged in the return of federal funds to the state," Rhodes added. "We need a man of John McElroy's ability to help us reverse that pattern."

McElroy, who was the governor's executive assistant during the eight years of Rhodes' previous two terms and served at the post briefly at the start of this term, said:

"I will recommend to the governor actions required to maximize the benefits available and minimize disadvantages flowing from the federal programs."

County realtors to award two student scholarships

The Fayette County Board of Realtors announced today it will award scholarships to two Fayette County seniors in observance of National Realtors Week, April 20-27.

Robert E. Lewis, president of the county board of realtors, said $50 scholarships will be awarded to Jim Smith, a senior at Washington Senior High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 623 S. Main St., and Kirk Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neff, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, a senior at Miami Trace High School.

Smith is president of the National Honor Society chapter at Washington Senior High School, vice president of the Hi-Y club, served as a delegate to Buckeye Boys State during his junior year, is president of the South Central Ohio League student council, is a member of the YMCA district council, and participated in football and track. He plans to attend Miami University, Oxford, where he will major in education.

Neff has served as president of Miami Trace's student council, is vice president of the Varsity M Club, served as editor of the Mitra yearbook and was a co-captain on the Panther basketball team. He plans to attend the Ohio Technical Institute, where he will major in electrical engineering.

Storms spill from Plains

By The Associated Press

April showers and thunderstorms spilled out of the Plains into the Midwest today, scattering rain from the middle Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes.

A tornado dipped into an area southwest of Norfolk, Neb., late Tuesday, and high winds caused damage at Cozad, Neb. No injuries were reported.

Large hail rattled into Loomis, Neb., and Maryville, Mo. and hail covered the ground near North Platte, Neb. A severe thunderstorm watch was in effect in the predawn hours for sections of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Nearly an inch of rain soaked Spencer, Iowa; Wausu, Wis., and Minneapolis during the night. A new weather front moving into the Pacific Northwest also brought rain from northern Washington into California.

Clear skies were scarce, confined mostly to the Southwest, the central Rockies and the Eastern Seaboard from Virginia to Maine.

Mild weather spread over most of the country from the Rockies eastward, except for New England which remained mostly in the 30s and occasional 20s overnight. Temperatures in the 50s and 60s were common through much of the midcontinent.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 26 at Concord, N.H., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

MT students slated for tests on May 3

By KATHY JUNK

On Saturday, May 3, approximately 60 students from Miami Trace will be tested in most academic subjects in the annual Ohio Test of Scholastic Achievement to be given at Ohio State University.

Buses leaving Miami Trace at 7 a.m. will arrive back at the school at 12 noon. Mr. and Mrs. William Sowash are supervisors for the trip.

The same tests are given at the same time to other colleges throughout the state. All of the answer sheets are graded and the scores ranked according to district, state, and size of school.

Before the school year closes, Miami Trace will receive the individual scores and the percentile ranking of all its students, as well as the rank of those scoring high. District and state winners are recognized in the awards assemblies at the end of school. Students participating in the tests are:

English I — Sue Mitchell - 9, Derek Gilbert - 9, Becky Callender - 9, Terri Hidy - 9, and (Alt) Kathy Jenkins - 9.

Seniors of the Week

BY DIANE CONLEY

"I've had some of my best years at Trace, and I think the underclassmen should make the best of them," says this week's featured senior, Bruce Edward Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones, Rt. 5, Washington C. H. Bruce's favorite class is machine shop, and his hobbies include weightlifting, football, basketball, and baseball. He spent one year on the football team and three years weight lifting.

He plans to attend a technical college and major in automobiles.

Kevin Thomas Dunn, son of Mrs. Marilyn Dunn of Good Hope, is our next featured senior.

Kevin has been active in baseball for four years, football for one year, basketball for two years, FFA for three years, musical for two years, and Folsingers and Varsity M for one year.

When asked for comments on his years at Trace, Kevin replied, "My years here have been pretty good, but the only thing I'll really miss are my friends."

Vo-Ag with Mr. Diley is Kevin's favorite class. His hobbies include all sports, shooting pool, partying, watching the Cincinnati Reds play baseball, and watching the Boston Celtics win the championship every year.

Kevin's future plans are still indefinite, but he thinks either college or studying to be an air traffic controller in the Air Force.

4 arrested after chase into Ohio

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A massive hunt for four Tennessee men sought on charges of armed robbery, kidnapping and car theft ended with their arrest here Tuesday after a high-speed chase through Kentucky and Ohio that attracted more than 150 lawmen.

A fifth suspect remained at large, according to Brown County sheriff's officers.

Authorities said an Ohio state patrolman was wounded after pursuing a stolen automobile connected with the armed robbery of the Medical Arts Center in Catlettsburg, Ky.

Charged with felonies assault and jailed in Brown County, Ohio were Gary Minis, 19, Madison, Tenn. and his brother David E. Minis, 30, Nashville; Harold B. Jackson Jr., 24, Madison, and Oval Tidwell, 49, Nashville, according to police.

A woman hostage was taken in Ashland, Ky., and released near Portsmouth, Ohio, police said.

State patrol officer Ben Joenke of the Georgetown post spotted the stolen car in Aberdeen and took pursuit. He said he was struck in the hand by gunfire from the fleeing car.

Other law officers joined the chase and exchanged gunfire with the speeding auto which later ran a roadblock near Ripley.

The auto was found abandoned north of Ripley, where lawmen apprehended the four men after combing the rough and hilly terrain.

A hearing was scheduled today.

Youth Activities

DEDICATED DOERS 4-H

The meeting of the Dedicated Doers 4-H Club was brought to order by Linda Duncan. Pledges were led by Kelli Wisecup and Lori Cruea read minutes of the previous meeting. Kelli also gave a safety report on "Water Safety" and a demonstration on "Invisible Stitches." Inez Haines presented a safety report on "Fire Hazards," and Maranda Haines made the health report on "Teeth."

Refreshments were served by Teresa Mickle and Kelli Wisecup and Marilyn Langley led recreation. The next club meeting will be held in the home of Michelle and Monica Deskins at 7 p.m. Monday.

TROOP 67

The meeting of Boy Scout Troop 67 was called to order by John Milstead. Mike Toppins gave the Pledge of Allegiance, Mark Pollock and Danny Maxie gave the Scout Oath and Laws.

We then ran around Jeffersonville for practice for the upcoming camporee. We also practiced First-Aid and the art of figuring height.

Scouts were reminded to bring $3.50 for food if they plan to go on the camporee. We were also told that new officers will be elected after the camporee. Scouts should be ready to decide what they're going to do for the Scout-O-Rama which is May 3. Recreation was then enjoyed before the closing by John Milstead.

Ladybug clears Assembly hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A resolution proclaiming the ladybug as Ohio's state insect cleared its first legislative hurdle Tuesday night with a favorable recommendation by the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, won the committee's approval on the strength in part of testimony by some of nearly 50 second and third graders from Lincolnshire Elementary School in Toledo.

They came dressed as ladybugs to a committee hearing last week and lobbied for passage, hoping to make it a successful culmination of their efforts in a class project pointing up the tiny insect's agricultural importance.

SAFE AT THIRD — A Chillicothe runner slides into third ahead of the throw to third baseman Randy Sparkman in Tuesday's non-league ball game. One too many Chillicothe runners duplicated the feat as the Cavaliers won the contest 10-2.

Errors, cold bats plague Blue Lion diamond men

Coach Rodger Mickle's Blue Lion diamond men ran into some tough pitching and added five big errors to drop a seven inning affair to the Chillicothe Cavaliers Tuesday afternoon on the Lion's home field.

Washington batsmen could manage only two hits off two Cavalier pitchers as Chillicothe picked up six big runs in the sixth inning making good use of several Lion miscues.

The Cavaliers held a slim 3-2 lead going into the top of the sixth, but they made good use of two hits in pushing the six runs home to put the game out of the Lion's reach.

Randy Gardner took the loss for Washington giving up just three hits and three earned runs while striking out six Cavalier batters. Jeff Kuhner grabbed the win by pitching a one hitter for five innings before going out in favor of reliever Booner late in the game. Booner also held the Lions to one hit in his two innings of work.

Scott Sefton and Gib Sparkman smacked the only two safeties for Washington, as the Lions scored a run in the third and struck again for one in the bottom of the seventh.

The Lions have dropped their last two starts, but Coach Mickle will be trying to get them back on the winning track Wednesday at home against a tough Unioto nine in a South Central Ohio League contest.

Wild pitch gives Reds 5-4 victory

CINCINNATI (AP)—"It was just a throw away," shrugged San Francisco Manager Wes Westrum. "I'm just pleased with Gary Nolan," frowned Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, biting into a piece of barbecued ribs.

The Reds had just taken the finale of a two game series with the Giants, 5-4, on a wild pitch and a throwing error in the last of the ninth inning.

Joe Morgan, who had doubled, scored when Charlie Williams' wild pitch got by catcher Marc Hill sending Morgan to third and he came home on Hill's high throw past third baseman Steve Ontiveros.

The first four innings were a pitching duel between Nolan and John D'Aquisto.

Then the Giants got to Nolan for two runs on a pair of singles by Gary Matthews and Chris Speier followed by Ontiveros' ground rule double that bounced over the left field wall.

Then disaster struck D'Aquisto who lost control and walked four batters and gave up a two-run single to Dave Concepcion, the Reds first hit. "He's really a fast ball pitcher," said Cincinnati first baseman Tony Perez who went hitless in four trips to the plate. "He just throws it past you and you can't hit it-but he's wild."

He can throw it past anyone in the major leagues," said Westrum, "but he got himself in a hole trying to over pitch and that's what happens."

Vacancies in three key positions are preventing a revolutionary Babe Ruth League season from being launched in the Washington C. H. area.

The Lions Club Babe Ruth League underwent a major revamping through the winter months, however, the resignation this week of commissioner John Skinner and the lack of coaches for two Washington C. H. teams have stalled progress and could possibly place the summer baseball in limbo.

MAJOR CHANGES added to the 10-year-old youth baseball program over the winter months include a regulation which permits 16-year-old boys to participate. Previously, only boys ages 13-15 were permitted to play.

League officials initiated that major change for a number of reasons. First, they say it will strengthen the minor league program, which operates in conjunction with the major league program and also serves as a farm system for the parent teams.

"It should strengthen the whole program," said Richard Coates, president-elect of the Washington C. H. Lions Club and a Babe Ruth League official for nearly a decade. "We talked about this change for several years, but could never accomplish it," he added.

Secondly, league officials believe the new regulation permitting 16-year-olds to participate will strengthen the American Legion baseball program since it will give the players one more year in the youth program before he advances to the more rugged Legion system. And, in the past it has been difficult for 16-year-olds to earn berths on the American Legion roster and consequently, they were forced to be idle during the summer months.

"It also gives our league a chance to be more competitive," Coates said. "At tournament time, teams from Columbus and Grove City all carried 16-year-old boys on their rosters, thus making it more difficult for our teams to win."

Thirteen-year-old boys will be required to play in the minor leagues under the new regulations. It will be the individual coach's option of where to place 14 and 15-year-old players.

Bloomington and Good Hope, two members of the Lions Babe Ruth League, were unable to field enough youngsters for two minor league teams. However, league officials have

School Board eyes summer proposals

By GEORGE MALEK

Two proposals submitted by Washington Senior High School varsity basketball coach Gary Shaffer have been approved by the Washington C.H. Board of Education. One sets the ground work for a basketball clinic while the other would open the senior high school gymnasium to students two nights per week during the summer. Both are designed to supplement the city schools' basketball programs.

The first is a summer basketball clinic which has been proposed as an addition to the city summer recreational program. The school board approved a request for use of the senior high gymnasium and locker room facilities to house the program.

SHAFER WILL be seeking approval from the Ohio High School Athletic Association to conduct a basketball clinic for fifth through tenth graders while using varsity players to assist with the instruction. Under the present proposal, fifth and sixth graders could attend the clinic June 23-28; seventh and eighth graders would meet from July 7-12; and ninth and tenth graders from July 14-19.

Those who enrolled would attend the clinic from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, taking an hour out for lunch. The sessions would run from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. The clinic would focus on basketball fundamentals, including passing, shooting, dribbling, rebounding and defensive skills.

An enrollment fee of $30 has been suggested to cover the cost of insurance, t-shirts, drinks for the students with their lunches and salaries for personnel. Shaffer said communities of similar size which have instituted such clinics have averaged approximately 30 students, but he hopes to have as many as 50 in each class held here.

The clinic proposal was first submitted as a school sponsored activity, but Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of schools, suggested that the program be incorporated in the city recreation program. He said it was not good policy for the school to sponsor a program which included an enrollment fee. He added that city officials had indicated an interest in the program and were apparently willing to sponsor it.

SCHOOL SPONSORED programs should not be limited to those who are financially able to pay, Nestor said. He and members of the board were happy to allow the city to use the school facilities if they decided to sponsor the clinic.

Shaffer said the possibility of a clinic has been discussed for several years. "It is important that such a program be initiated because many of the youngsters who come to the high school lack training in basketball fundamentals," he said.

Actual implementation of the clinic may in part be determined by Shaffer's ability to participate. He announced to board members that he may be involved in a basketball program in Venezuela, South America, this summer. If this should come about, he would not be able to head the program here. Whether or not the program would be arranged in his absence was not determined.

OPENING THE GYM two days each week was also suggested by Shaffer and approved by the board. The gymnasium at Washington Senior High School will be open every Tuesday and Thursday night from 7 until 10 p.m. during June and July.

Shaffer said he and other basketball coaches would be present to supervise the activities in the gym, and no students would be allowed in other parts of the building.

Shaffer noted that the gymnasium had been open five nights a week last year, but on some occasions, members of the football squad came to the gym to work out. To avoid such conflict, the basketball coach requested only two nights this year.

Babe Ruth League needs 3 head men agreed to permit players from the two villages to combine for minor league participation.

Other teams in the Lions Babe Ruth League are Sabina, Willis Insurance, the Medics, Craig's Department Store and Gorton's Frozen Food Locker, the latter four from Washington C. H.

The Medics, sponsored by the Fayette County Medical Society, and Willis Insurance are the two Washington C. H. teams in need of coaches. Willis Insurance was coached last summer by former Fayette County sports stars Jeff Blake and Steve Ross while Ron Helmick, who has accepted the managerial chores of the American Legion team in Washington C. H., guided the Medics last year.

The league commissioner is the only salaried position in the Babe Ruth League. Skinner, veteran reserve basketball coach at Washington C. H., had served as the league commissioner for the past two years.

"It's (league commissioner) not an easy job by any means, but on the other hand, it's enjoyable and rewarding," said Wesley Cox, long-time secretary-treasurer of the Lions Babe Ruth League.

Cox said the commissioner is responsible for a number of duties including compiling the league schedule, scheduling all umpires for both major and minor league games, settling on-field arguments, directing tryout sessions and the annual league draft and maintenance of the Roszmenn Field area.

"Our hands are tied completely until we get a new commissioner. Then those two teams can't play ball unless they have a coach," said Coates.

The league is scheduled to open June 1, but the three vacancies are placing that target date in serious jeopardy. Before the league schedule opens, tryouts and the annual draft must be held.

There are actually two separate, but closely-knit organizations which operate the Babe Ruth League program. The Lions Babe Ruth League operates the seven-team system, while the Washington C. H. Babe Ruth Association is primarily responsible for the four city teams and the maintenance of Roszmenn Field.

Pat Riley is president of the 11-member Washington C. H. Babe Ruth Association board of directors. John Gall serves as the association's secretary-treasurer, a post held by Cotes since 1969. Don Moore, of Bloomingburg, is president of the Lions Babe Ruth League. Roger Merritt, of Good Hope, serves as vice president and Cox is the secretary-treasurer.

The Washington C. H. Lions Club contributes $500 annually for the four city teams. The Good Hope, Bloomingburg and Sabina clubs each contribute $125. The league also gains needed operating revenue from area merchants who are requested to donate $25 apiece each year.

In the past, the sponsors received painted advertisements on the Roszmenn Field outfield fence, but this year a new innovation is being instituted. A large sign will be erected at the field and it will contain the names of the sponsors. The outfield fence containing the 45 sponsors' advertisements will receive a new coat of green paint.

The newly-paint fence and the sign containing each sponsors' name will be only two of a number of improvements fans will notice this summer at Roszmenn Field.

THE ARMCO Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C. H. has agreed to erect a new metal concession building at Roszmenn Field as its annual Founders Day project. The new building, measuring 12 by 16 feet, will be erected Saturday. The structure will provide a concession sales area and also contain additional space for the announcer and scorekeeper. The Fayette County engineer's department razed the old concession stand and also completed grading work on the driveway to the park. Dr. Jim McCoy, a Washington C. H. Lions Club member, removed all the debris from the building demolition.

The Washington C. H. Babe Ruth Association is hoping to lease the concession stand operation to a qualified church or civic organization for a fund-raising project this summer.

Meanwhile, the 106 members of the Washington C. H. Lions Club will be conducting their annual clean-up project at Roszmenn Field on April 29.

Washington trackmen blast Greenfield, Western Pike

The Washington Senior High cindermen breezed to an easy win in a triangular meet at Greenfield Tuesday. The Blue Lions ran up a big 79 points total to top conference rival Greenfield McClain and Western Pike, a surprise last minute entry to the scheduled dual meet.

Greg Marti took his usual firsts in the high jump and the pole vault to be the only double winner for the Blue Lions. Jeff Brown, Ed DeWeese, Greg Huysman and Les Sanders picked up wins in one event apiece to help pace the Lions.

Brown took first in the discus with a toss of 133'-8½" to beat out Greenfield's

Wilmington tops Washington girls

The Washington Senior High girls' softball team dropped a 24-7 decision to a tough Wilmington team Monday at Eymann Park. Wilmington, unbeaten on the year and fresh from breaking a two year Miami Trace winning streak, jumped to a nine run lead early in the game to post the victory.

Wilmington's big inning was the sixth, when the girls pushed 11 runners across the plate to put the game out of Washington's reach.

Washington got its seven runs on 22 hits with Sally Robinson picking up four of the safeties while Sharon Redding bombed a home run for the Court House girls. Robinson and Susan Stolzenburg each had two runs batted in despite the loss.

The Washington girls next game will be with Miami Trace Thursday afternoon at Eymann Park.

Tom Adams. Brown also picked up some points with a second place finish behind Adams in the shot and a second in the quarter mile.

DeWeese again won the half mile with Mark Stewart picking up a fourth place finish in the same race.

Huysman took a surprise win in the 220-yard dash beating Greenfield's Ron Smith by five-tenths of a second while Les Sanders picked up the other Blue Lion win in the two mile run.

Mark Workman and Tim Dove picked up five points apiece in the lows and the highs and Mark Forsythe and Jim Vess placed in the 100-yard dash with Forsythe picking up points in the long jump and Vess placing in the shot and the 220.

The Lion's two relay teams took two firsts with Vess, Forsythe, Huysman and DeWeese running in the half mile and DeWeese, Stewart, Brown and Dove taking the mile.

Johnson top NBA coach

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Life has been full of surprises for Phil Johnson, head coach of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, who once hoped to be coach of a high school basketball team in Utah by the time he was 45.

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, announced Tuesday that Johnson had received 21 of 54 votes from a panel of sports writers and broadcasters in the league's 18 franchise cities, making Johnson NBA Coach of the Year.

Al Attles of Golden State was second with 10 votes, followed by K.C. Jones of Washington with five and Bill Fitch of Cleveland and Bill van Breda Kolff of New Orleans, four each.

The Blue Lions next meet will be Thursday at home against county rival Miami Trace.

Middle School tracksters win season's opening meet

The Washington Middle School participated in its first track meet Monday and the junior high cindermen came away with a narrow 54½-52½ victory over Hillsboro.

Surprisingly enough, two Middle School records fell at the season's opening meet. Marty Huffman threw the 8-pound shot 40'-1½" breaking the school's previous best by over more than a foot and Bob Friedley got the other record breaker in the 180-yard low hurdles with a time of :17.0. Friedley also racked up some points in the 880-yard run and the long jump with second place finishes.

Jason Rummer took two of the Middle school's six first place finishes

Mike Rachuba named top MAC player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pitcher Mike Rachuba of Toledo, who hurled a one-hitter in leading the Rockets to a 6-1 victory over Central Michigan last week, has been named the Mid-American Conference baseball Player of the Week.

Accorded similar honors for other spring sports were hammer thrower Larry Satchwell of Northern Illinois, in track; Dave Brown of Miami inntennis, and Ben Blake of Ohio University and Ken Walter of Bowling Green, in golf.

Tigers top Indians

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's getting a double dose of Perrys.

But if Jim gets treated today with the same kind of "double" trouble that hit his brother Gaylord on Tuesday, the Tigers won't mind a bit.

Ron LeFlore's scratch double keyed a five-run Detroit fifth inning that sent the Tigers to a 6-2 baseball victory Tuesday over the Cleveland Indians.

Gaylord Perry was breezing along with a 2-0 lead at the time of LeFlore's "hit," a two-out fly that popped out of center-fielder George Hendrick's glove after a long run. The official scorer ruled it a hit.

It scored rookies Dan Meyer and Art James who had singled. Then Gary Sutherland singled in another run and designated hitter Willie Horton followed with a two-run homer.

"That WAS the game!" Indians Manager Frank Robinson said of Hendrick's fluff. "It was an error. You don't give base hits on balls like that...A pitcher doesn't want anything given to him, but he doesn't want anything taken away either. If a guy doesn't deserve a hit, don't give it to him."

Instead of five unearned runs, Gaylord was charged with five earned runs and his record fell to 2-2.

Ex-Tiger Jim Perry was to face Joe Coleman in today's rematch. Both went into the game with 0-2 records.

"I thought it was just a popup," LeFlore said of his lucky poke. "...I'm sure everybody thought the ball'd be caught. I thought it would."

REAL ESTATE

It has character!

Are you a fancier of older homes? Do you enjoy the vastness and the roomy feeling the older homes offer?
BUT - do you also frown on the seemingly unsurmountable task of updating an older home? Well then, we have the home for you. The present owners of this fine 4 bedroom brick have thoroughly enjoyed making a showplace home of this fine city property. While sand-blasting the brick, rebuilding the fireplaces, sanding floors, installing a new furnace, new wiring, new plumbing,
remodeling bathrooms,
complete redecorating,
landscaping is pure drudgery to some people, it has been fun for these folks. New they have placed their fine home with its 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room, dining room,
family room, den and kitchen on the market and we would enjoy showing you the finished product . . . $35,000.00

Chromosomes and Crime

We are surrounded by crime and criminals. Is it possible that, in the future, people with criminal tendencies can be changed? Wouldn't that be a way to reduce violence and crime?

Mr. T. T., Mich.

Dear Mr. T.:
A few days ago one of my patients was mugged. He is 78. He sustained a fracture of the jaw and the nose. All the mugger was able to take from him were four dollars and his hearing aid.

The study of violence and aggression is constantly expanding. Sociologists, anthropologists and psychiatrists are trying to fathom the depths of these emotions in an effort to stem the tide before it completely overwhelms us.

Now, new strides are being made in the knowledge of chromosomes and their "disturbances." It is recognized that these disturbances affect the physical and emotional makeup of the total human being.

The microscopic rod-shaped bodies of chromosomes exist in humans in very definite numbers. The normal healthy adult has 23 pairs of chromosomes.

These chromosomes are identified as "X" and "Y." The "X" chromosome is identified with the female. The "Y" chromosome belongs to the male.

The genetic code of life, now studied by scientists, shows that an abnormality of an extra "X" or "Y" chromosome may be responsible for some unusual mental condition and for some types of distorted behavior. Genetic engineers now believe that it may be possible to realign the balance of extra "X" and "Y" chromosomes.

It is also hoped that when chromosome imbalance is detected early, proper training, direction and education may convert some people with a criminal tendency to productive members of society.

Can the size and shape of blood vessels be seen by X-ray?
Miss D. E., Va.

Dear Miss E.:
Routine X-rays cannot show normal soft tissue. When there is arteriosclerosis in arteries, the calcium within them may be seen by X-ray.

There are many new specialized techniques in which dyes are injected into the blood stream. These can clearly outline the vascular structure of the body.

Opening lead - three of diamonds.

This deal comes from a team of four match. East's three club bid was of the weak-jump-overcall family, and his double of six spades told West not to lead a club but one of the red suits.

West was certain his partner could ruff either a heart or a diamond lead, and he naturally led a diamond. West's choice cannot be faulted — unfortunate though it was — because he had six diamonds as opposed to only five hearts, and East was hence more likely to ruff a diamond lead than a heart lead.

Sad to relate, virtue was not rewarded in this case. Declarer won the diamond with the ace, cashed dummy's queen of spades, and ruffed a low diamond on which East was forced to play the king. South drew trumps, played the king of hearts, East showing out, and easily made seven with the aid of a heart finesse. Score — 1,860 points.

Players whose thinking is largely governed by hindsight may criticize West for leading a diamond instead of a heart. It is hard to debate the matter with these players, especially when they fail to provide a logical reason for their choice of a heart and instead argue on the basis of results.

The plain fact is that West made the percentage play when he led a diamond. True, his lead was unsuccessful and cost him lots of points, but that does not in any way change the general philosophy that in the long run the percentage play is the winning play.

Variety of incidents probed by city police

A burglary, a larceny, two incidents of vandalism, a personal injury and a dog bite, were reported by Washington C.H. police today, while the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a larceny in the county.

Marting Manufacturing Co., 809 Delaware St., was burglarized sometime between Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, by burglars who entered the building by breaking a rear window.

The office area was entered by forcing two doors and braking a glass partition.

Police reported the only item stolen was $3 to $4 in change, kept in a glass jar in the office.

A car battery was removed from an auto owned by Betty J. Justice, 635 Willard St., sometime between 4 p.m. and 11:53 p.m. Tuesday, while the car was parked in the Fayette Memorial Hospital parking lot.

Police are investigating the theft. A newly planted tree, in the front yard of the Warren Craig residence, 220 N. North St., was cut with a knife at 5:20 p.m. Tuesday, police reported.

A BB was shot through a window in the Ray Gorman residence, 120 E. Paint St., Monday evening. Police are seeking the person responsible for the damage.

Michael Knapp, 18, of 920 Davis Court, cut his wrist with a knife while working at Clark's Cardinal food store, 747 W. Elm St., cutting corn in the produce department.

Knapp was taken to Fayette

Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

Pamela S. Zimmerman, 8, of 620 Grace St., was bitten on the right knee by a dog while riding her bicycle in the alley behind Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union between Grace and Pearl streets, at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Police reported the girl treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital. An air compressor and 25 feet of hose were stolen from a farm building located at 6052 Fitchthorn Rd., owned by Robert Creamer, 7316 Ohio 729.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies believe the theft to have occurred sometime between April 18 and Tuesday.

Spaghetti supper held at McNair

Over 240 persons attended the spaghetti supper held last week at the McNair Presbyterian Church, 503 Lewis St.

Proceeds from the dinner, which was cooked and served by members of the church congregation, went toward needed repairs of the church basement.

The Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of the church, and members of the congregation stated they wanted to express their appreciation to all who attended the supper and made the basement improvements possible.

Arrests

SHERIFF

TUESDAY — Monte C. McConkey, 19, of 531 E. Elm St., driving without an operator's license; Richard M. Holschulte, 18, Bloomingburg, unsafe vehicle.

PATROL

TUESDAY — Paul J. Rupp, 18, Cincinnati, driving while intoxicated and driving while under financial responsibility suspension; Terral L. Greene, 22, Cincinnati, disorderly conduct; Larry Baker, 24, Cincinnati, disorderly conduct.

Deputies charge local motorist

A Washington C.H. man was cited by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead when he became involved in a rear-end collision with another car at 8:24 p.m. Tuesday.

Deputies reported a car driven by Allen Beedy, 21, of 1510 N. North St., the driver charged, struck an auto driven by Karen S. Shasteen, 19, Clarksville, Tenn., when she slowed her car to make a right turn off U.S. 22, 100 feet west of Washington C.H.

Both autos incurred moderate damage, but there was no injury.

Sheriff's deputies reported an additional, hit-skip accident Tuesday, while city police investigated two hit-skip mishaps in the city.

An auto owned by Romona Hoover, Stafford Road, was damaged by an unidentified driver sometime Tuesday, while the car was parked in the Mac Tool parking lot, U.S. 35, sheriff's deputies reported.

A car owned by Lendil W. Manning, 803 Broadway St., was damaged by a hit-skip driver at 10:48 p.m. Tuesday, while parked in front of the Manning residence.

Damage was moderate, according to police estimates.

The second hit-skip incident investigated by police, involved a car owned by Vicki D. Oesterle, 19, New Holland, which was damaged when a truck carrying an iron bar on the back, backed up causing the bar to strike the Oesterle auto.

The mishap occurred in the parking lot of Hidy Foods, Columbus Avenue, at 4:38 p.m. Tuesday.

Local resident hurt in blaze

A Washington C.H. man was badly burned in a house fire at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday.

City police and Washington C.H. firemen on the scene, removed Maynard Icenhower, 513 Fourth St., from his home which is believed to have caught fire because a penny was placed behind a fuse in the fuse box.

Icenhower had been sleeping in the house at the time of the blaze. He suffered first, second and third degree burns to his face and body and is presently listed in fair condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Firemen fought the blaze with water for over an hour, but they reported the home, valued at $2,000, a total loss. Owner, Leo Gilmore, was reported as having no insurance.

A malfunctioning furnace summoned Washington C.H. firemen to the Andrew Robertson residence at 19 Rowe Ging Rd., three hours prior to the Icenhower blaze.

They reported no fire, but heavy smoke damage from the furnace.

Robertson was located asleep in bed by firemen and removed from the house. He was not injured.

Damage to the furnace was estimated at $150.

Advisory committee schedules meeting

The Community Education advisory committee will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday in the food lab in the basement of the Washington C. H. Middle School. Several items will be discussed, and Community Education director Hank Shaffer noted that the public is welcome to attend and offer comment.

Reports will be submitted concerning bicycle week, the senior citizens' May Day project, and the Jaycee circus.

The committee will also discuss the summer activities to be offered by the Community Education program, and will begin planning this year's "Off-sides" football game.

The publicity subcommittee will discuss promotion of the Community Education program at the Fayette County Home Show May 4-6, and the finance committee will discuss means of increasing the program's revenue.

City manager injured in crash

Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford is listed in "good condition" at Clinton Memorial Hospital in Wilmington following a one-car accident early Wednesday morning near Sabina.

Wolford, 27, of 141 Carolyn Road, was a passenger in a late model sportscar, being driven eastbound on CCC Highway-W by Wanda J. Whiteside, 34, of 816 Yeoman St., at 1:45 a.m. Wednesday when the auto ran off the roadway and struck a tree.

According to investigating officer Ptl. Phillip Moore of the Ohio Highway Patrol post in Wilmington, the driver stated she thought a car was coming toward her and she drove off the right side of the roadway, with the compact auto striking a tree and coming to rest on its top.

Wolford, Whiteside and another passenger, Karen D. Dye, 30, of 643 Comfort Lane, were taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Wolford and Mrs. Whiteside were admitted to the hospital with multiple contusions and abrasions while Mrs. Dye did not require treatment.

A hospital spokesman reported Wednesday morning that Wolford was listed in good condition and Mrs. Whiteside was fair. Both patients are expected to remain under hospital care at least another day for treatment and observation of possible internal injuries.

Ptl. Moore stated the accident is still under investigation and no citations have yet been issued.

The regular City Council meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight is expected to be held as planned.

Ford issues call for strong Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today called for a strong U.S. Navy and warned that the Soviet Union "is outspending us on defense by at least 20 per cent."

"The Soviet Union understands the importance of seapower," the President said. "The Russians built up their navy while we permitted ours to shrink."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the 73rd Annual Navy League convention in New Orleans, Ford said the size of the U.S. Navy has been cut in half since 1968 and that the U.S. fleet of 501 ships is the smallest since 1939 — two years before Pearl Harbor.

He said the Russian navy now "freely roams the world's seas." Ford said that in the past few days, four fleets of the Soviet Union have completed global maneuvers with more than 220 Soviet ships deployed in all the oceans of the world, including more than 50 ships in the Atlantic.

Ford spoke to the convention while on a one-day trip to New Orleans, which included a tribute to Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., former chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

His first stop in New Orleans was for ground-breaking ceremonies for a $500,000-library in honor of Hebert. The project has run into local opposition.
